WARREN LELAND,

whom everybody knows as the successful manager of the Largest Hotel Enterprises of America, says that while a passenger from New York on board a ship going around Cape Horn, in the early days of emigration to California, he learned that one of the officers of the vessel had cured himself, during the voyage, of an obstinate disease by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Since then Mr. LELAND has recommended AYER'S SARSAPARILLA in many similar cases, and he has never yet heard of its failure to effect a radical cure.

Some years ago one of Mr. LELAND's farm laborers bruised his leg. Owing to the bad state of his blood, an ugly scrofulous swelling or lump appeared on the injured limb. Horrible itching of the skin, with burning and darting pains through the lump, made life almost intolerable. The leg became enormously enlarged, and running ulcers formed, discharging great quantities of extremely offensive matter. No treatment was of any avail until the man, by Mr. LELAND's direction, was supplied with AYER'S SARSAPA-RILLA, which allayed the pain and irritation, healed the sores, removed the swelling, and completely restored the limb to use.
Mr. LELAND has personally used

for Rheumatism, with entire success; and, after careful observation, declares that, in his belief, there is no medicine in the world equal to it for the cure of Liver Disorders, Gout, the effects of high living, Salt Rheum, Sores, Eruptions, and all the various forms of blood diseases.

We have Mr. LELAND's permission to invite all who may desire further evidence in regard to the extraordinary curative powers of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA to see him personally either at his mammoth Ocean Hotel, Long Branch, or at the popular Leland Hotel, Broadway, 27th and 28th Streets, New York.
Mr. LELAND's extensive knowledge of the good done by this unequalled eradicator of blood poisons enables him to give inquirers much valuable information.

by hypothesis, happy in his inability to know the causes of things, preferring the things themselves. He lived chiefly in the country, among pleasant seats and homesteads, and was fond of sauntering by the fruit-tree wall, and scenting the apricots when they were warmed by the morning sunshine, or of sheltering himself under the orchard boughs at noon, when the summer pears were falling. He knew nothing of week-day sermons, and thought none the worse of the Sunday sermon if it allowed him to sleep from the text to the blessing—liking the afternoon service best, because the prayers were the shortest, and not ashamed to say so; for he had an easy, jolly conscience, broad-backed like himself, and able to carry a great deal of beer or port wine—not being made squeamish by doubts and qualms and lofty aspirations. Life was not a task to him, but a sinicure; he fingered the guineas in his pocket, and ate his dinners, and slept the sleep of the irresponsible; for had he not kept up his charter by going to church on the Sunday afternoon?

Fine old Leisure! Do not be severe upon him, and judge him by our modern standard; he never went to Exeter Hall, or heard a popular preacher, or read Tracts for the Times, or Sartor Resartus.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Recent Election.

Sir,—No matter what excuses Grit writers may make in trying to account for the defeat of their candidates at the recent Legislative Council election in the First District, the stubborn fact is now before the people, that Mr. McEachern, the Liberal-Conservative candidate in 1885 has been elected by a majority of 155 over his opponent in the same district in which the Grit nominee in 1882 was elected by exactly 200 of a majority. These figures speak for themselves. They not only show the popularity of the present Government, but they also show that some of the self-constituted leaders of the Grit party have lost the confidence of the people, and that the hand writing foretelling their own political fate is already on the wall.

The property voters of this district deserve to be congratulated upon their conduct in the late election. They have elected a man from among themselves to support the present economical Government.
Many of them twice asked to vote for "our man," simply because they formerly voted on the Grit side of politics. Earnest appeals were made by the electors to stand true to the party, but the good common sense of the people prevailed over all purely party considerations, and the result is that, though bitterly opposed by many would-be leading "politicians," the Governmental candidate is the choice of the district.

As might be expected, there are a number of Grits very angry and disappointed indeed at the way the election went. One of them, I observe, has given vent to his feelings in a letter to the Patriot, signed "Grit," dated from Souris, written the day after the election. Passing over the three first paragraphs of "Grit's" letter, which are really too nonsensical to demand attention, the readers of the Patriot are told that "his were circulated, religious prejudices aroused, and even national feelings appealed to to secure Mr. McEachern's return." As for the lies, "Grit" is doubtless a good authority on the subject, as he claims a sort of monopoly in that line during election times. He cannot name one lie that was set afloat by Conservatives.
Not so with the opposite party. The report of the Grit meetings, as given in the Patriot, will give you some idea of the gross misrepresentations and falsehoods that were circulated in order to damage Mr. McEach-ern's prospects. The "religious prejudices" are something before unheard of in this part of the country. The fact is they only exist in the heated imagination of "Grit" himself. Both Candidates are of the same religious persuasion. Where then are the national religious prejudices come in?
National feelings were not appealed to either, as the vote in this section of the district clearly shows. It is insulting to the electors to accuse them, as "Grit" does, with having indulged in national or in religious prejudices in the late contest.

But the most insulting part of Grit's letter is where he says: "If Dr. McIntyre had been here the result might have been different." Does he mean to say by this that electors require to be told how to vote?
Not only this, but that it requires Dr. Mc-Intyre to lead them by the collar to the polls, there to vote for the man he may see fit to bring out. The one-man power, let me tell Grit, in a free country like this, will not be tolerated even in the matter of a Legislative Council election. It is really humiliating to the rank and file of the Grit party to have such assertions as Grit makes circulated through the press.

The electors voted independently, no odds what to say to the contrary, and I very much mistake them if they do not, at the very next opportunity teach him and his leader a lesson that they will not soon forget.

ELECTOR.

Morell, May 21, 1885.

"First-Class Goods."

In which merit is at once recognized, are now, and always have been, imitated, especially the manufactured article. After years of labor, and the expenditure of a fortune, in perfecting and placing before the public that which people appreciate and demand, some one who never had an original idea offers a counterfeit or substitute to compete with the genuine. Curtis Davis & Co., makers of the "Welcome Soap," find the above true in their case at least, the excellence of whose productions are everywhere acknowledged as the "standard" of quality, being imitated in every way that competition can suggest. But in the use of their goods, the consumer realizes the full benefit of value received.
