

Suggestions Pondered By Carnival Committee

SUMMERSIDE — Thirty recommendations from the committee chairman of last year's Lobster Carnival and Livestock Exhibition were discussed at last night's meeting of the board of directors and generally approved or assigned to committee for further investigation.

Carnival dates for the 1962 event have been chosen as July 17 to 21 inclusive, a five-day show. It was felt by last year's committee chairman that the recommendations submitted would generally enhance the carnival and increase the overall efficiency of the popular event which was inaugurated in 1958.

Carnival manager, Charles Hogan has drawn up a suggested program for this year's carnival which is to be studied by the directors before the next meeting. He also assigned tentatively, the duties of the six service clubs that participate.

The Kinsmen will look after the Miss P.E.I. contest and coronation ball. The Y's Men will be in charge of the parade and opening day and coronation parades. Bingo and track and field will be administered by the Legion, and the Lion's Club will handle the children's day, baby contest and handicraft display.

The supper committee, fisheries displays and street decorations come under the Rotary Club and the Air Force Association will take care of parking, entertainment and tickets.

Special committees will also be set up to look after other details of the large program. One of the recommendations approved last evening concerned the Miss P.E.I. contest. This year the contestants must be between the age of 17 years before the first of January 1962 and not over the age of 26 years to be eligible—providing she has not been a contestant in two or more Miss P.E.I. or sea queen contests or has not been a winner. There will be no Mrs. P.E.I. contest this year.

A committee was appointed to investigate the possibility of having lobster suppers served under canvas or in the curling rink or some other suitable place in order to provide more room at the stadium for booths and other features.

A motion was approved whereby tenders will be called for the games of chance concessions at the stadium, to be let to reliable organizations or individuals.

Mr. Hogan informed the meeting that he and members of the executive are meeting today with several cabinet ministers regarding grants, provision of housing for the livestock and other matters.

Snowdon's Job Draws Criticism In London Paper

LONDON (CP) — The Reynolds News says the Earl of Snowdon, Princess Margaret's husband, showed "an error of judgment" in associating himself with Roy Thomson's Sunday Times.

Although most papers refrained from commenting, at least two others favored Lord Snowdon's decision to accept the appointment as artistic adviser to the Sunday Times at a salary estimated between £10,000 and £15,000.

Reynolds News, a Sunday paper, notes that Canadian-born Thomson owns one of the largest newspaper and television empires in the world.

John Gordon, columnist in the Sunday Express who has recently aimed a number of barbed comments at Princess Margaret and her husband, says: "It is an excellent decision which will have wide public approval and remove a cause of much recent criticism."

Under the heading "Let's hit back at Diefie (Canadian Prime Minister Diefenbaker) and company." The People says: "No one blames Australia and Canada for looking after their own interests. But wouldn't it smack less of hubbub if they made less noise when Britain tries to safeguard her future—by joining Europe?"

It was no use in spending the taxpayers' money unnecessarily. Coun. William MacNeil further pointed out that the citizens were not too happy with the condition of the streets and that he hasn't heard one of them complain about the cost of having the snow removed.

He stated that he was called out Saturday to see the condition of the intersection at Belmont St., and Kensington Road. He said that he found the condition was caused by the government snow plow going up Belmont Street.

Coun. Gormley again stated that it wouldn't have cost $1,000 to put "a couple of buckets out Saturday afternoon to clear the crossings.

Mayor A. Walthein Gaudet stated that if Mr. Gormley wanted to stay behind following the council meeting the city clerk "would show you how quickly the cost adds up."

The only resolution passed at the meeting was that "the sub-division of lands of the Estate of M. K. Saunders (lots 1 to 9) dated Sept. 1961 prepared by C. H. Stewart, be approved."

One Appeal Allowed, Second Is Dismissed By Chief Justice

SUMMERSIDE — Two appeals in Supreme Court at Summerside yesterday were heard by Chief Justice Thane A. Campbell, with J. Watson MacNaught, QC, as counsel for both appellants, and George R. McMahon, representing the crown.

The first was an appeal on behalf of John Cahill of Summerside against a conviction by Magistrate R.S. Hinton who had found Cahill guilty of taking a car without the owner's permission, and had imposed a sentence of six months in jail.

The appeal was allowed by the Chief Justice with the result that the jail sentence against Cahill was dismissed.

The second case heard by Chief Justice Campbell was an appeal by the Crown from a dismissal by county magistrate, Chester S. MacDonald, of a charge against Leo Francis Fennessey of Tignish for possession of liquor in a place other than his residence.

Evidence revealed that Fennessey had purchased two cases of ale at the Tignish vendors at 5 p.m. and subsequently at 11 o'clock the same evening as he drove his girl friend home from the theatre, police found both cases, still unopened, in the locked trunk of his car.

Magistrate MacDonald had dismissed the charge, and the Crown had entered an appeal against the dismissal. The Chief Justice upheld the dismissal by Magistrate MacDonald, and denied the appeal.

U.S. Contracts In Canada Produce Sharp Criticism

By HAROLD MORRISON WASHINGTON (CP) — The chairman of a congressional subcommittee on Imports Monday called for curbs on the flow of American naval contracts to Canadian shipyards.

Congressman John H. Dent, Pennsylvania Democrat, said policy followed by the United States Navy for the last two years "amounts to a virtual mandate to American shipbuilding companies to sublet government contracts to Canadian suppliers."

Making public the transcript of a closed-door committee hearing last Friday, Dent maintained in a statement that unless Congress and President Kennedy change naval procurement rules, the American shipbuilding industry would be reduced to just one or two large builders in the near future.

He said the navy has practically ordered American contractors to place subcontracts in Canada and shipbuilders are cooperating because Canadian wages are sharply below those in the U.S. and contracts could make big profits. The transcript shows Kenneth Belieu, assistant naval secretary, testified that Canada places more naval contracts in the U.S. than the U.S. does in Canada and that this provided work for American labor.

Belieu also warned that if the U.S. restricts the flow of orders to Canada, Canada might restrict orders to the U.S.

Dent said he wasn't particularly interested in the Canada-U.S. payments balance or the balance in orders. He suggested Canada is placing orders in the U.S. for certain products simply because these are not produced in Canada.

But in the case of American naval contracts placed in Canada, testimony showed all the work could have been performed in the U.S. which is hit by 15th shipyards and workers. Dent said.

The Friday hearing concentrated on a $25,000,000 naval contract for 10 Polaris submarines obtained by General Dynamics Electric Boat Division, the U.S. parent of Canadian Limited, Montreal.

Carlisle Shugg, the U.S. firm's senior vice-president, testified that $3,000,000 worth of subcontracts went to Canada. About $2,000,000 went to Canadian Vickers at Montreal, a Canadian "sister" company to General Dynamics — presumably Canadian—got $1,000,000 to produce a special patented ball valve for the Polaris.

Shugg hinted he may place more subcontracts in Canada and observed that Canadian shipyard wage rates are about 25 per cent lower than those in the U.S. The Canadian average was about $2.25 an hour, compared with $2.80 in the U.S.
