SPECTACLES.

Over twenty-five years I have been in the Spectacle business and during that time have fitted hundreds and hundreds of persons. Some had put off getting glasses so long that they could not see a large 4 inch letter A without going within 2 or 3 feet of it, and might have gone blind if they had put off getting glasses much longer. Others have been fitted or rather misfitted, with wrong glasses by travellers, and charged a great deal more than they ought to have been. This year our traveller, Mr. C. H. White, intends calling on parties at their homes in the country, to test eyes and show samples of our goods. Should he call on you I bespeak for him your favorable consideration, and any order you may give him will be filled as soon as possible and guaranteed by me. Glasses can also be exchanged at the store, CAMERON BLOCK, City, if after a trial they do not prove as satisfactory as you wish.

Free Corn! Free Corn

Farmers you will have corn free of duty now, but you still require implements to sow and clean it with.

QUEEN CORN PLANTER AND PERFECTION WEEDER

Our Planter sows from 18 to 50 lbs. per acre, with an alarm bell to tell when the seed is running short. A man can sow with one horse about 8 acres per day.

OUR PERFECTION WEEDER cleans 3 drills at once and thoroughly takes the weeds out of corn, potatoe or turnip patch; it is the best weeder yet made for root crops. Perfect working guaranteed.

Your inspection of these machines is desired as they are something entirely new.

A CLERK'S BLUNDER.

Orrington, Me., Got Its Name Through His Wonderful Spelling.

As often as once a month something happens in Orrington, Me., which is of enough importance to make it worthy of mention, and whenever the place is put in print the name is always spelled wrong. Most of the time it is called "Orrington," though "Ovington" and "Ovvington" are not uncommon. In fact, the town's name is spelled every way but the right way. All of this is due to the blunder of a prominent citizen who used phonetic methods of spelling.

It was nearly 125 years ago that some of the leading citizens met and drew up a petition to the general court of Massachusetts, asking that the plantation be incorporated as a town. The people agreed upon the name. It was to be called Orangetown, partly out of compliment to Orangetown, Md., which was then a thriving place, and partly as a mark of respect to the Prince of Orange, who, as William III of England, had done valiant work in behalf of the Protestants. Having signed a blank petition, the residents went home, leaving the clerk of the meeting to fill in the spaces, which he did faithfully according to the light which was given him. Of course the members of the Massachusetts general court did not know that "O-r-r-i-n-g" was meant to spell orange, or that "t-o-n" spelled town. Very likely they didn't stop to look at the name and wouldn't have cared if they had seen the bad spelling. They incorporated the town without protest and named it Orrington, as the petition had asked them to do. Though Orrington received its name because an old clerk didn't know how to spell and though it is the only Orrington in the world, it gets little credit for being original, because compositors, proof readers and careful copyists insist upon misspelling a word that owes its birth to bad orthography.—New York Sun.

No Jealousy.

Fuddy—Between you and me I believe my wife thinks more of the butcher than she does of me.

Duddy—You don't mean it!

Fuddy—I do. But I am not jealous.

Duddy—Not jealous?

Fuddy—You wouldn't be surprised if you knew what kind of thoughts she thinks of him.—Boston Transcript.

About 10,000,000 of the bovine species are now to be found in the Argentine Republic. They are all descendants of eight cows and one bull which were taken to Brazil in the middle of the sixteenth century.

There are thousands of sickly school-girls all over this broad land that are dragging their way through school-life who might enjoy that abundant life which belongs to youth by simple attention to hygienic laws and a proper course of treatment with Scott's Emulsion. This would make the blood rich, the heart-beat strong; check that tendency to exhaustion and quicken the appetite by strengthening the digestion. Our book tells more about it. Sent free.
