ONTARIO PC CANDIDATE SPEAKS HERE

The Progressive Conservative Women's Association held a reception yesterday for Miss Margaret Aitken, PC candidate for York-Humber. Miss Aitken has been an MP for that district since 1953. Last night Miss Aitken was one of the guest speakers at a public meeting at Pownal Hall. Also speaking at the meeting were Heath Macquarrie and Hon. Angus MacLean, Conservative candidates for Queens County. Here Miss Aitken, centre chats with Mrs. Heath Macquarrie, left, and Mrs. J. Angus MacLean.

Polio Chapter Reviews Year Of Achievement

The 13th annual meeting of the Prince Edward Island Chapter of the Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis was held last night at the Charlottetown Hotel. The president, J. Lincoln Dewar presided.

The guest speaker was Mrs. Edna I. LaFlair, director of public health nursing, who spoke on "Education for the Physically Handicapped Child".

Following the annual dinner meeting officers were elected as follows: president, J. Lincoln Dewar; vice-president, Judge St. Clair Trainor; treasurer, C. W. Peters; treasurer, Mrs. Helen Bell.

Guests at the dinner included Hon. L. G. Dewar, MD, minister of education and Mrs. Dewar.

During the course of "the meeting the presentation of four wheelchairs by No. 201 Confederation Wing, RCAF Association, Charlottetwn, was made by president, Claude Carroll. Amid much applause Mr. Dewar expressed the thanks of the chapter for "this generous contribution to the work of the organization".

In reviewing the progress made by the chapter since its inception, the president stated that "today a new world of hope and usefulness is opened to the polio victim. Medical science has made marked progress in correcting the ravages of the disease and new educational techniques made it possible for handicapped persons to compete successfully in the workaday world".

CAMP ESTABLISHED

Dr. Dewar said that during the past year the chapter has seen probably "the most dramatic achievement of the past 13 years—the opening of the Bellevue Cove Crippled Children's Camp". "This", he said, "has provided a facility of great value and importance and one which stands as a monument to the generosity of our public and to the interest and devotion of the largely unrewarded directors of the chapter".

In his reference to the establishment of the camp, the president paid tribute to the financial assistance of an interest-free loan of $15,000 from the Canadian Foundation, and in the operation of the camp in a financial way by the Rotary Club of Charlottetown, and from funds raised through the Easter seal campaign.

Mr. Dewar reported that during the year the question of a merger, at the national level, with the Canadian Council for Crippled Children has been under study. It is expected a decision will be reached at the annual meeting in Ottawa the latter part of this month.

The president reviewed the financial position of the chapter and expressed thanks to Mrs. Fred MacMillan, Charlottetown, and Mrs. W.A. Currie, Summerside, for their splendid work on behalf of the organization.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. LaFlair, guest speaker, said that "In thinking of the educational needs of handicapped children, they can be effective only when the "whole"child is taken into consideration and when people with different skills work as a team to meet the physical, intellectual, social, emotional, and spiritual aspects of his growth and development".

The speaker continued that "In thinking of the education of physically handicapped children, parents must first realize that their child is an individual. He must not be smothered by love and pity but allowed to develop as best he can by having his energies channelled into more sedentary occupations."

Mrs. LaFlair emphasized that "basically whether one is whole or handicapped, there is a need to be loved, to be useful, to be accepted by others and to feel that one belongs".

ORAL VACCINE

Dr. Tudor Gencheff in reporting on adult vaccination and for the camp committee stated that, "there has been much talk lately about oral vaccine. This has been used in some parts of Canada, mainly Nova Scotia and Saskatchewan, and according to the press release has been accepted very well.

"This may be well worthwhile but it is the feeling of the department of health of this province, and the feeling of the majority in this part of the country that unless we run into an epidemic we will not use the oral vaccine this year.

"I might state that oral vaccine is still being used on an experimental basis in this country and until we have the "green light" that the vaccine is 100 per cent we will not probably introduce it in this province."

Other reports presented included, the financial campaign by Mrs. Fred Macillan, and the rehabilitation council by Mrs. J.E. Fleming.

BANKING

make more loans available if they could charge more than six-per-cent interest. Wouldn't it be better to pay, say, 6½ per cent, rather than not be able to borrow at all?

Mr. McQuaid said then that the province definitely doesn't want the statutory limit abolished. But he said perhaps it might "be a little bit higher" than six per cent.

SUGGESTS AGENCY

The brief suggested a central borrowing agency, administered by the provincial and federal governments as a means of getting better money deals, particularly for smaller provinces.

The brief said "This government. . . is endeavouring to bring about a co-operation among the four Atlantic Provinces. . .and has suggested they should combine in their public offerings to obtain the best possible rate, and cut out any element of competition between any of them in the financial market.

"We have also suggested the combined Atlantic Provinces should seek funds at regular intervals through the year and, preferably, offer approximately the same amount on each call to market", the presentation added.

DIFFICULTIES RECALLED

Previous borrowing difficulties the 1959 effort which resulted in a $3,880,000 issue in the United States was mentioned specifically were recalled, and Mr. McQuaid said they had found later the province of Ontario had just floated a large issue, which made it much more difficult for this province.

Noting a disparity in borrowing rates, with smaller provinces suffering, certain Canadian corporations can borrow funds for long periods at lower interests than some of the provinces the brief suggested it is detrimental to this country's standing to have the credit ratings of provinces somewhat lower than that of some corporations. The brief suggested that cooperation between federal and provincial governments through the suggested central agency, could "counteract the considerable disparity in borrowing rates, not only among the provinces, themselves, but between the provinces and the federal government."

The suggested "agency" would borrow funds at regular intervals in amounts that "would meet the current demand for funds, but also amounts which, it is felt, can be readily absorbed by the money markets".

The central agency, it was suggested, might be a separate division under the administration of the Bank of Canada. It would loan money to the co-operating governments at a rate calculated to recover the borrowing cost, plus the expenses of issue and administration.

Each government would have to provide the agency with an estimate of its fund requirements for "say 18 months."

The brief urged that "the dollar is still worth 100 cents in Canada", adding that Canadians would be better off in export trade, which is the lifeblood of any country. As a illustration the candidate pointed out that P.E.I. potatoes would be in a far superior trading position, compared to Maine potatoes.

"Admittedly", Mr. Macquarrie said, "there are many problems to be faced in the government of this country, and on June 18 the Canadian people will once more give John Diefenbaker the right and the privilege to solve them".

The other feature speaker of the evening, Hon. J. Angus MacLean touched on the present trade surplus, the policy of national development, agriculture, fisheries, and grants to the provinces under the Diefenbaker administration.

Another guest speaker was Miss Margaret Aitken, former member for York-Humber.

The meeting was chaired by Mrs. Norman MacMillan and entertainment was provided by Gerald Gallant, Gary Mellish, Miss Cormer, Belfast quartet, Lloyd Martin, Mrs. William Mutch Also speaking were W. W. McNeill and Alex McPherson.

Macquarrie Suggests Look Back Embarrasses Liberals

"Liberals tell you to look forward. Oddly enough they never suggest you look back". With this statement, Heath Macquarrie Progressive Conservative candidate for Queens addressed a capacity audience in Powal Hall last night.

In expanding this theme, the former member for Queens suggested that perhaps he should assist the Liberals in this look at the "not too distant past", and stated that had Mr. Pearson been elected in 1957, Prince Edward Island would have received no Roads to Resources, no extension to the Charlottetown runway, no new car ferries at both terminals, no causeway, special Atlantic adjustment grants and the same "horse trading" methods would still prevail in Dominion-Provincial relations.

Continuing, Mr. Macquarrie indicated his support of the Canadian government stand on England's possible entry into the Common Market, and added that England itself was sharply divided on this issue. "Nevertheless", the Queens candidate said, "Prime Minister Diefenbaker has been successful in persuading Britain to hold a Commonwealth Conference before she moves into any new trade agreement.

"However", Mr. Macquarrie observed "there were those who said such a conference was impossible—the same people who critize the Prime Minister for his deep concern over this Common Market problem".

The Queens PC candidate concluded by emphasizing the fact that "Despite what the Opposition says, the pegged government of Canada should minimize, as far as possible, the fluctuation of the Canadian dollar in the money markets of the world."

It suggested that incentives be provided to investors in Canadian government securities. It suggested that regional monetary authorities could obtain the co-operation of municipalities in their borrowing and advise or direct them in financial matters.

OFFERS SUGGESTION

Commissioner W.T. Brown, Vancouver, suggested the province might consider borrowing the money and loaning it to the municipalities, thus gaining for them the advantage that accrues to larger investments on a money market that shies away from smaller deals.

The brief also suggested that continuing federal assistance should be made available to municipal projects, which are of a country-wide nature.

The commission, headed by Chief Justice Dana Porter, Ontario, concluded the hearing shortly after 11 o'clock and goes to Halifax for hearings next Monday.

Pickersgill Said Only Island Representative By Liberals

"The only worthwhile representation this province had in Ottawa in the past five years was Jack Pickersgill", Allison Gillis Queens Liberal candidate told an overflow crowd of enthusiastic listeners at North River Hall last night.

"Hansard does not record a speech or a sentence from either of the Tory representatives concerning the welfare of the farmers of this province", he said, "and there was plenty they could have talked about. They sat idly by while our potato surplus rotted and the people of Britain were potato starved."

Mr. Gillis listed the broken promises of "Promising John" on unemployment, parity prices, expanding trade. "This is the man who aspires to run the Commonwealth but after June 18 he will be numbered among the unemployed," Mr. Gillis concluded.

Ira Lewis, the other member of the Liberal team for Queens, shot down the Tory defence of the devaluation of the dollar and noted that there were many "Dozen-dollars" in evidence at the hall worth 92½ cents. Mr. Lewis said, "A farmer is entitled to the same type of credit to establish his business as other business people receive. Ours is a most important business," he impressed on the audience, "and it must not be allowed to perish."

Lester Pearson's government would provide the credit needed by farmers, Mr. Lewis said.

Chairman for the meeting was Elbert Orr. The candidates were introduced by Fulton Robertson. Entertainers were, Mrs. Peters, Miss Joyce Lowther, Barry Balderson, Jimmie Madore, Richard MacLean, Francis Doyle, Mrs. Harvey Jewell. Refreshments were enjoyed by all.

'Amphicar' Makes Debut

Occupants of automobiles parked at Victoria Park facing the harbor have been used to the sight of boats cruising past them but last night they were doubtful of what they saw. This time it was a car, appearing no different than the one they were sitting in, cruising as neat as you please through the harbor waters.

If the "unbelievers" had been at the Yacht Club wharf a short while before, they would have seen a small red car drive in from the street and straight into the harbor waters.

The vehicle was the new "amphicar", a land or water vehicle, which was being demonstrated in Charlottetown for the first time last night. Wednesday it was in Summerside and amazed spectators there.

Water Shutoff In Some Cases

Following a recent note that the water department was sending out warning letters to people in arrears on their water bills a large number spoeared at the commission office to make arrangements for payment.

However, many others failed to put in an appearance to answer the request for payment and as a result the water supply has been shut off in some instances. It is believed similar action is to be taken in a number of other cases unless the arrears are paid or satisfactory arrangements made.

Canadian Clubs To Hold National Conference Here

The bi-annual meeting of the Association of Canadian Clubs will be held in Charlottetown in early June of 1964.

The association holds a national conference every two years and this year's meeting was held on June 1 and 2 at the Royal York Hotel in Toronto.

Mr. Justice G.J. Tweedy, Charlottetown, represented the P.E.I. Canadian Club at the conference.

Judge Tweedy said that Dr. Wilder Penfield, OM, CMG, Will be the national body's president for the next two years and will be presiding at the Charlottetown conference.

At last week's Toronto meeting, A.D. Cameron, Charlottetown, was named a director of the national association.

Inspection Slated For Navy Cadets

Surgeon Commander L. E. Prowse, commanding officer of HMCS Queen Charlotte, is to inspect the Navy League Cadet Corps (Hyndman) on board HMCS Queen Charlottetown this evening at 7.15 p.m.

Cmdr. Prowse will take the salute and will be visiting the cadets in classes of gunnery, naval orginization, and seamanship.

At 8 o'clock Lieutenant-Governor F. Walter Hyndman, patron of the corps, will visit the classes and following the presentions of awards, prizes, and promotions he will present the corps with the F. Walter Hyndman Trophy for general proficiency.

Light Fixture Caused Fire

Fire Inspector Louis Ranahan announced yesterday that an inspection of the fire damage at Trinity United Church, which occured earlier this week, had revealed that it was not caused by an electrical defect as first thought.

The examination by the inspector and two electricans had disclosed that the fire was started from an overheated light fixture. Their findings were that a light fixture installed flush to the ceiling had caused the low density ceiling tile (pressed paper) to smoulder and eventually burst into open flame.
