WHICH IS THE Cheapest and Best Dry Goods House

IN CHARLOTTETOWN?

Is a question frequently asked, and we believe the best solution of the problem is a careful comparison of the goods and the prices charged. In point of genuine value we claim to stand in the front rank, and respectfully invite a fair comparison. We wish also to intimate to our friends that, notwithstanding the effort put forth by our opponents to sell at a discount of 33 1-5 per cent, our sales this month have been larger than ever. This, alone convinces us that our prices are honest and that we are serving our customers well. We again ask you to look everywhere; but buy nowhere till you respect

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

NOVEMBER 19, 1886.

Revenue and Expenditure.

THE Canadian Gazette, received here on Wednesday night, contained the following statement of the revenue and expenditure on account of the Consolidated Fund in the fiscal year ending 30th June last:—

Revenue.....$33,311,420
Expenditure.....39,176,973
Deficit.....5,864,553

Over four millions of this deficit is attributed directly and indirectly to the North-west Rebellion, and the balance to dullness of trade and shrinkage of values.

It is worthy of remark that the aggregate surplus which has accrued during the past seven years, is yet over nine millions—the total receipts for the period during which the present Government has been in power being in round numbers $220,000,000, and the total expenditures $211,000,000.

The price of Riel's Rebellion has now been paid, and trade is again on the boom. We may, therefore, look forward to a surplus for the current year. Indeed, the surplus which has accrued since the 1st July last already amounts to nearly $3,000,000; so that it is probable that by the end of this year the deficit of last year will be completely wiped out.

Texas.

AMERICANS, to their credit be it said, never indulge in abuse of their own country. Not so with many Canadians. To the ordinary Grit mind, nothing is more congenial than running down this Canada of ours. From Mr. Blake down to the lowest of his followers, the Grits have not one kind word to say in behalf of their country. They are always ready, however, to praise the United States. That's the country for them, and Texas is one of their favorite subjects. Both Mr. McKenzie and Mr. Blake have frequently spoken of Texas as one of the most desirable places on earth for intending emigrants. Our own Northwest they attempt to belittle on every possible occasion. In the interest of American land companies Mr. Blake's opinions are first class. Mr. Blake's speeches are copied extensively in an advertisement in these land speculators. They frequently have a picture of him as a heading for their advertisements. All should go to Texas, he thinks, who are in search of cheap land and fine climate. It seems, however, that there is another side to the picture. Texas is not at all what the Grit leader represents it to be, as may be seen by the following, clipped from one of our late exchanges:—

"HARD TIMES IN TEXAS.—A Presbyterian minister from Texas has been preaching recently in New York and pleading on behalf of the famine-stricken population of the great State of Texas. A hundred thousand bushels of wheat are needed for seed this fall. The people have suffered from a fearful drought which has lasted about a year!"

Race and Revenge.

WHILE the race and revenge party are endeavoring to make a martyr out of Riel, running the execution of that notorious rebel for all it is worth, it is worthy of note that none of his political admirers has contributed towards taking care of his grave. Up to late last summer it was not even sodded over. Actions speak louder than words, and before Grit-Rielites attempt to hang the Government because Riel was hanged, they would do well to show the country that there is some sincerity in their agitation; and in no way can they do this better, than by caring for the rebel chief's grave. It would be too much to expect of them to care for the many graves of innocent white settlers who were butchered by Riel and his followers. Nor need we expect them to offer tribute to the memory of our brave volunteers who fell in that rebellion. But as Riel is the only one connected with that insurrection, whose name they are anxious to hand down to posterity as a martyr and patriot, they should give the people some token of their sincerity in the direction indicated. Let our Island M. P. who voted for Riel make a note of this.

Free Trade.

THE reduction of internal revenue and the taking off of revenue stamps from Proprietary Medicines, no doubt has largely benefited the consumers, as well as relieving the burden of the home manufacturers. Especially is this the case with Green's August Flower and Boschee's German Syrup, as the reduction of thirty-six cents per dozen has been added to increase the size of the bottles containing these remedies, thereby giving one-fifth more medicine in the 75 cent size.

The August Flower for Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, and the German Syrup for Cough, Bronchitis, and Lung troubles, have perhaps the largest sale of any medicines in the world. The advantage of increased size of the bottles will be greatly appreciated by the sick and afflicted, in every town and village in civilized countries. Sample bottles for 10 cents remain the same size.

The Bulgarian Throne.

PRINCE NICHOLAS OF MINGRELIA AN ASPIRANT FOR THE SUCCESSION.

The Boston Herald's London cable of the 14th inst. says: The advices from Cannes regarding Prince Waldemar's attitude bear out my information of Wednesday. The prince would like a crown, but the one which the Bulgarian delegates are bringing him looks so shaky that he will be slow in putting it on. He will certainly decline unless assured of the czar's good will. It is reported that his wife's relatives, the Orleans princes, have advised him to refuse the honor, as there is too much treachery at Sofia for a safe reign. Public opinion in Denmark is also decidedly adverse. Copenhagen argues that even if the Czar should assent to the election, his favor would be short-lived, as the designs of Russia must inevitably clash with the aspirations of Bulgaria. The Danes are naturally solicitous of maintaining unclouded relations with St. Petersburg. Russia being the only power to which they could look for material support in the event of German aggression. It is a far cry to Sofia, but a very near one to Berlin, and poor Denmark has had her skirts cut so short that she shrinks from doing anything which might alienate a possible protector.

Prince Nicholas of Mingrelia, whose name has suddenly come up in connection with the vacant throne, is not regarded here as an acceptable candidate. He is of Georgian descent, and is about as little fitted as General Kaulbars himself for the duties of a constitutional ruler. Like Kaulbars, he is personally a good fellow, but he has been trained to look upon the czar as a master whose will is not to be disputed, and he can never grow out of this training. He is the son of Prince David Dadian, who some twenty years back ceded the shadowy sovereignty of the Dadians over Mingrelia to the late Czar. The little principality, which lies between Mount Caucasus and the Black Sea, is about half as large as Connecticut, had been conquered by the Russians long before, and the sovereign rights of Prince David were rather traditional than actual, but the Czar paid 1,000,000 roubles to extinguish them. Prince Nicholas still maintains his ancestral castle at Luggidi, but he has a residence at St. Petersburg, and is well known in high society in Paris, Vienna and Berlin. His sister, the Princess Salome Dadian, married Prince Achille Murat. Prince Nicholas is in his 40th year and his years have been very full ones. If by any chance he should attain to the Bulgarian throne, the konak at Sofia will be a good deal gayer than it was in Prince Alexander's day.

The German St. Petersburg Gazette says that the Prince of Mingrelia is the only possible Russian candidate for the Bulgarian throne, and thinks his selection would be sure to be approved by the other powers. The same paper says: It will be some time before quiet is restored in Bulgaria sufficiently to render the election of a prince possible under conditions which Russia would recognize as legal.

Crops in the United States.

The report of the United States Department of Agriculture says that the cotton returns for November attest the rapid progress of picking, the unusual cleanness of fibre, and the shortness of the late crop on light uplands and districts most affected by the drought. Light frosts sufficient to arrest growth have occurred in the northern districts and to the centre of the cotton belt.

The yield of corn, according to revised returns, is 22 bushels per acre, making a product of 1,168,000,000 bushels. This will not be materially changed in the final review of the work of the year.

The potato crop is nearly the same as last year, with higher yields in the east and lower in the west. The average is 73 bushels per acre, giving a product of 133,000,000 bushels.

The buckwheat crop makes a yield of about 13 bushels per acre, promising a product exceeding 11,000,000 bushels.

The apparent production of tobacco is at a rate slightly exceeding an average of 70 lbs. per acre or about 585,000,000 lbs., which is equal to about the average requirements of consumption and exportation.

The average rate of yield for the hay crop is close to one and two-tenths tons per acre, and the apparent product about 45,000,000 tons.

A Judge's Difficult Task.

A SUIT BETWEEN TWO EVANGELISTS IN TORONTO—SEARCHING FOR TRUTH.

A sensational case was before the civil court at Toronto last week. The plaintiff was Rev. Jonathan Cook, and defendant Rev. M. Baxter, president of the Gospel Union and commander-in-chief of the Gospel army. Plaintiff sued defendant for salary due him as an evangelist at Ferris and Elora, and to his daughter, who acted as his lieutenant. Judgment was given for plaintiff. In delivering judgment Chief Justice Cameron said: "I regret the contradiction of witnesses shown in this case. If in matters of religion we cannot have the truth, it is difficult to say where truth shall be found. We have two Gospel army officers on each side swearing to directly opposite facts, and this brings a scandal on the way in which the suit is conducted or officered. It is my painful duty to determine where the truth lies between these parties. The army officers at head quarters do not agree among themselves, Mr. McClellan, a witness, being flatly contradicted by two other officers." He preferred according to the evidence of plaintiff's daughter, and added that there was a moral obligation to keep the case out of court.
