FARMING IN ONTARIO.

A TELLING ARTICLE IN REPLY TO THE SPRINGFIELD REPUBLICAN.

Mr. C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, Corrects Some Errors in a Most Convincing Fashion—Interesting to American, Satisfactory to Canadian Readers.

The New York Independent recently copied a thirty line article about "Farming in Canada" from the Springfield Republican which contained errors and did not do justice to this province. Mr. C. C. James reply is herewith printed.

Ontario is a large province. From the mouth of the Albany river on James Bay to Pelee Island in Lake Erie the distance is about 700 miles, while from the eastern limit on the Lawrence River to the western on the Lake of the Woods is about 1,000 miles. Its total area is 290,000 square miles; larger than the nine North Atlantic States by one-third; larger than Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio combined. But a small portion is as yet settled; in fact, eighty per cent of the entire province is yet in the possession of the Provisional Land Department. As yet the larger portion unsold is valuable principally for its timber and minerals, there are several millions of acres of the finest agricultural land as yet unoccupied. One such tract is along the Rainy River, adjacent to Minnesota, the other, the Valley of Lake Temiscamingue, is to the north of Ottawa. These two districts are in the same latitude as Northern Minnesota. The former district is covered with deep black, alluvial soil, and the latter with rich clay overlaid with humus.

The old settled portion of Ontario lies in the triangle bounded on one side by the Ottawa and Lake Nipissing, on the second by the St. Lawrence, Lake Ontario and Lake Erie, and on the third by Lake St. Clair, Lake Huron and Georgian Bay. It is worth while opening a map to look at the configuration. With the exception of a short portage between Lake Nipissing and Front Lake on the north, it is practically an island, washed by the waters of two large rivers and three great lakes. In addition to its shape, like a wedge pushed down into the heart of the great agricultural States, and you will begin to realize that its position and surroundings are apparently fit for a great agricultural province. Its backbones is the western branch of the Appalachian rocks, the material out of which rich clay is made. The alluvial deposits are most noticeable in the extreme southwest, where the soil rivals that of the richest prairie. While the northern point of Ontario is an ocean port on James Bay, the southern point is further south than Boston and Chicago. The southern limit of Ontario is below the parallel of the northwest boundary line of the United States is the 49th. Practically all of the 2,114,321 inhabitants of Ontario are to the south of a straight line drawn from the 500 to Portland, Me. Within this area are 23,000,000 acres of occupied farm lands.

Grain.—The writer of the article in question is in error as to wheat production in Ontario. Although wheat growing is gradually giving place to stock raising and dairying, Ontario is yet the principal wheat province of Canada, as the following statement for 1893 will show:

Province	Ontario	Manitoba
Acres	1,043,600	1,043,600
Produce of wheat	25,703,381	15,015,282
Bushels per acre	24.6	14.4

The average yield of wheat, barley and oats for the best years 1882-93 was higher than the average for any State in the Union. Oats and peas are grown in all parts of the province. The prime barley so much desired by New York State markets is not confined to any one part of the province. The tall southern varieties of corn ripen only in the counties along Lake Erie, but the corn of the Northern States ripen in all parts of Ontario. Corn growing, however, is not so extensive as in the North Central States. It is the principal ensilage crop, producing as high as twenty tons per acre. Wheat is raised in the Peace River Valley of the Northwest Territory, over 900 miles further north than St. Paul.

Fruit.—Peaches of the finest quality are grown in the southern counties, the two leading sections being the Niagara and the Peace River. Canadian apples are quoted at prices higher than American apples. The only apples equaling those of Ontario at Chicago were some from Nova Scotia and the Pacific Coast. Since then a large trade in apples has developed between Ontario and American markets. The exhibits at the World's Fair will give some idea of our adaptation to that industry. This province exhibited 14 varieties of raspberries, 7 of blackberries, 88 of strawberries, 24 of cherries, 18 of cranberries, 34 of gooseberries, 44 of peaches, 88 of pears, 82 of plums, 108 of grapes, 146 of apples, besides many other fruits, including even figs grown out of doors. In the competition Ontario secured 19 provincial awards, 14 district awards and 15 individual awards—39 in all—a result unobtainable by any single State or foreign country.

Honey.—Closely allied with fruit is honey. This province produces annually 8,000,000 pounds of honey from its 265,000 hives. At Chicago, Ontario secured seventeen awards against twenty-eight of the entire United States.

Dairying.—Every province is now rapidly developing its dairy industry; but in Ontario the making of cheese has
