

The Uses of an Enemy.

Always keep an enemy well in hand—a brisk, hearty, active enemy. Remark the use of an enemy:—

1. The having of one is proof that you are somebody. Wishy, washy, empty worthless people never have enemies. Men who never move never run against anything; and when a man is thoroughly dead and utterly buried, nothing ever runs against him. To be run against is proof of existence and position; to run against something is proof of motion.

2. An enemy is, say the least, not partial to you. He will not flatter. He will not exaggerate your virtues. It is very probable that he will magnify your faults. The benefit of that is two fold, it permits you to know that you have your faults, and are therefore not a monster, and it makes them of such a size as to be visible and manageable. Of course, if you have a fault you desire to know it; when you become aware that you have a fault you desire to correct it. Your enemy does for you valuable work which your friend cannot perform.

3. In addition, your enemy keeps you wide awake. He does not let you sleep at your post. There are two that always keep watch—namely, the lover and the hater. Your lover watches that you may sleep. He keeps off noises, excludes lights, adjusts surroundings, that nothing may disturb you. Your hater watches that you may not sleep. He stirs you when you are napping. He keeps your faculties on the alert. Even when he does nothing he will have you in such a state of mind that you cannot tell what he will do next, and the mental qui vive must be worth something.

4. He is a detective among your friends. You need to know who your friends are, and who are not, and who are your enemies. The last of these three will discriminate the other two. When your enemy goes to one who is neither friend nor enemy, and assails you, the indifferent one will have nothing to say or chime in, not because he is your enemy, but because it is much easier to assent than oppose, and especially than refute. But your friend will take up the defense for you on the instant. He will deny everything and insist on proof, and proving is very hard work. There is scarcely a truthful man in the world that could afford to undertake to prove one-tenth of all his truthful assertions. Your friend will carry your enemy to the proof, and if the indifferent person through carelessness, repeats the assertions of your enemy, he is soon made to feel the inconvenience thereof by the zeal your friend manifests. Follow your enemy around, and you will find your friends, for he will have developed them so that they cannot be mistaken.

The next best thing to have to a hundred real friends is to have one open enemy. But let us pray to be delivered from secret foes.—Sunday Magazine.

'I got famously taken in on that occasion,' said the Duke of Wellington once. 'The troops had taken to plundering a good deal. It was necessary to stop it, and I issued an order announcing that the first man taken in the act should be hanged on the spot. One day, just as we were sitting down to dinner, three men were brought to the door of the hut by the provost. The case against them was clear, and I had nothing for it but to desire that they should be taken away and hanged in some place where they might be seen by the whole column in its march next day. I had a good many guests with me on that occasion, and among the rest I think, Lord Nugent. They seemed dreadfully shocked, and could not eat their dinner. I didn't like it very much myself, but as I told them, I had no time to indulge my feelings; I must do my duty. Well, the dinner went off rather gravely; and next morning, sure enough, three men in uniform were seen hanging from the branches of a tree close to the high road. It was a terrible example and produced the desired effect; there was no more plundering; when, some months afterwards, I learned that one of my staff took counsel with Dr. Hume, and—as three men had just died in the hospital they hung them up and let the three culprits return to their regiments.' 'Weren't you very angry, duke?' 'Well, I suppose I was at first, but as I had no wish to take the poor fellows' lives and only wanted the example, and as the example had the desired effect my anger soon died out and I confess to you that I am very glad now that the three lives were spared.'

Young ladies at an evening party are like arrows, for they cannot go off without a beam, and are in a quiver until they get one.

It is a book full of light and wisdom, will make you wise to eternal life, and furnish you with directions and principles to guide and order your life safely and prudently. There is no book like the Bible for excellent learning, wisdom and use.

MARCH 1880.

OUR STOCK-TAKING SALE during the month of February has been very successful; we have therefore decided to continue it through this month. The demand for patterns, as everybody knows, is always great, and we regret to say that in this line we have been particularly busy. The desire for "snips" has become chronic, but we trust a healthier state of things is in the future.

Our Dress Materials have had a steady sale, and give great satisfaction; their quality and unsurpassed cheapness make them very tempting. Black Cashmeres and Lustres are in great request, in "snips" of 8 to 16 yards.

We have recently received a new lot of Gents' Spring Overcoats and Suits, also a lot of Suits for Boys; all at very low prices.

Gents' wear of all kinds we find to go off very rapidly. We call especial attention to our Fine Black Broadcloth, Tweeds, Linders and Drawers, Ties, Paper and Linen Collars, Hosiery, &c.

Carpets, Hemp, Scotch, Felt and Tapestry, a very good assortment, and ridiculously cheap, Hearth Rugs, Door Mats, &c.

Table Damasks, Wool Table Covers, Linen Table Covers, Towels, 40 cents per doz. upwards.

Our Dress Fringes at 5 to 10 cents per yard, and Ladies' Dress Caps at 10 to 20 cents, are selling readily.

New Lot of Prime Teas just come in; our 32-cent is nearly run out, but we have on hand a few chests of 36-cent Tea, which we retail ONLY. Our 40-cent Tea is regarded as the best in the city; but all grades sell rapidly. We sell in caddies of 5, 8, 10, 15 or 20 lbs., neatly done up, so as to retain the flavor.
