

Complications In Handling Reds

By GERALD WARING
OTTAWA—The Supreme Court's judgment in the Jehovah's Witness case of Rex v. Boucher is having a far-reaching effect in a more important struggle than the alleged persecution of this troublesome sect in Quebec.

It threw law enforcement officers into a flat spin when they considered its effect on their efforts to control the Communists. Government lawyers are studying it, trying to decide what should be done to block the loophole Rex v. Boucher has opened to the Reds.

Alme Boucher was convicted in Quebec of seditious libel for publishing a pamphlet entitled "Quebec's Burning Hate". He appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada, which split 5-4 last December to allow the appeal and quash the conviction.

In effect, this majority's judgment ruled that while a person's language may be calculated to promote ill will and hostility between different classes of citizens, and between the people and the courts, that person is not guilty of sedition unless there is an intention to incite to violence, or resistance to, or defiance of, constituted authority.

Enforcement officers fear that henceforth practically their only hope of convicting a Communist of sedition will be in those rare cases where they can prove an act of violence resulted from the words uttered. Existence of mere intention to incite to violence they believe will be very hard to prove.

As a result, despite recent Government administration acts and stiffened treason laws aimed at domestic Communists, there has been little if any net strengthening of the authorities' power to battle the Kremlin's fifth column in this country.

Partly due to this, and partly due to a growing belief that the time has come when we should stop handling Communists with kid gloves, I have heard it suggested in responsible quarters here that what we need now is a new law aimed directly at the home-grown Reds.

W.M.S. Summer Rally Held at Winsloe

W. M. S. United Church of Canada, Summer rally was held with Winsloe North Auxiliary being hostesses to over 85 delegates and friends. Winsloe South led the opening devotional exercises.

Mr. George Watts was a visitor to the City. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Moore spent a Sunday in York recently. Mr. Gordon Crockett was a recent visitor to the City.

Mr. Eddy Vessey, York, attended the picnic at Stanhope recently. Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Toombs and daughter Mary, Rustico, were visitors to York recently.

Miss Freda Newson, York, is employed at the Dalvay hotel for the summer months. Mrs. Horace Vessey entertained the members of the Missionary Society at their July meeting.

Mr. Angus Cluney has returned to his home in York much improved in health. Mrs. Florence Whitehead, of Boston is visiting in York, the guest of Mrs. Herbert Vessey.

Mr. Arthur Brown, York, has accepted a position at Vessey's Tire Shop, Charlottetown. The regular meeting of the Alpha Women's Institute was held recently at the home of Mrs. Louis Vessey.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Newson and family were visitors to Brackley recently, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Newson. Miss Marjorie Lewis has returned to her home in York, after visiting in Tracadie, the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Jack Watts.

Friends of Mr. Jack Caswell, formerly of York, who is a patient in the P. E. I. Hospital, are glad to hear of his improvement. Friends of Mrs. Elby Hardy are sorry to hear that she is a patient in the P. E. I. Hospital. Her friends wish her a speedy recovery.

York and Vicinity

Mrs. Jack Watts was a visitor to York recently. Mrs. Grant Toombs, Rustico, was a recent visitor to York.

Mr. George Watts was a visitor to the City. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Moore spent a Sunday in York recently. Mr. Gordon Crockett was a recent visitor to the City.

Mr. Eddy Vessey, York, attended the picnic at Stanhope recently. Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Toombs and daughter Mary, Rustico, were visitors to York recently.

Miss Freda Newson, York, is employed at the Dalvay hotel for the summer months. Mrs. Horace Vessey entertained the members of the Missionary Society at their July meeting.

Mr. Angus Cluney has returned to his home in York much improved in health. Mrs. Florence Whitehead, of Boston is visiting in York, the guest of Mrs. Herbert Vessey.

Mr. Arthur Brown, York, has accepted a position at Vessey's Tire Shop, Charlottetown. The regular meeting of the Alpha Women's Institute was held recently at the home of Mrs. Louis Vessey.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Newson and family were visitors to Brackley recently, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Newson. Miss Marjorie Lewis has returned to her home in York, after visiting in Tracadie, the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Jack Watts.

Friends of Mr. Jack Caswell, formerly of York, who is a patient in the P. E. I. Hospital, are glad to hear of his improvement. Friends of Mrs. Elby Hardy are sorry to hear that she is a patient in the P. E. I. Hospital. Her friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Knox and family spent a recent week-end in York, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Watts. Mr. John Nicholson, Orwell Cove, is employed with Mr. Leigh Vessey, York, for the summer months.

Mr. Pope Cooke, one of York's older residents, attended the York Sunday School picnic at Stanhope recently. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis and daughter, Anita, spent a recent week-end at Sudney, N. S. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allan, and son Malcolm.

Friends of Mr. Will Cooke are sorry to hear that he is a patient in the P. E. I. Hospital. His many friends wish him a speedy recovery.

R. C. N. Force In Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, July 25—(CP)—A three-ship R.C.N. Atlantic Coast training force of two frigates and a destroyer sailed into this port Monday on a homeward leg of a training cruise and was welcomed by Prime Minister Sir Basil Brooke and members of his government.

Forming Huge Chain Of Fighting And Bomber Bases

LONDON, July 24—(AP)—The Atlantic Allies expect to have a chain of about 800 fighter and bomber fields in west Europe by the end of this year, official sources said Friday. Some of the fields already are in operation. They include R. A. F. bases in the British Isles, British bases used by American bombers and their jet-fighter escorts, and German bases already in use by American and British air forces.

More Hymn Festivals

The historic United Church at West Covehead was well filled with worshippers on Sunday afternoon, July 8, when the choir of Princeton Road, York, and West Covehead United Church participated in the second of a series of Hymn Festivals to be held in the three rural charges of Covehead, Winsloe and York, during the summer months.

Rev. Thos. A. Wilson, Minister of West Covehead, assisted by Rev. Mr. Skinner of Winsloe, led the congregation in the service of worship. Mr. Wilson stated the purposes of these festivals are those of worshipping God in songs of praise, of gaining spiritual inspiration for ourselves through the medium of words and music; and of learning more of the wonderful supply of inspired hymns contained in our Hymnary.

Each choir sang two hymns, one familiar and one unfamiliar. Princeton Road selections were "Jesus the Very Thought of Thee" (St. Agnes), and "Come, Let Us Join Our Cheerful Songs" (Cambridge New). West Covehead selections were "Ye Gates, Lift Up Your Heads On High" (St. George's, Edinburgh), and "Lord Of All Being, Throned Afar" (Arizona). The York choir sang "God Reveals His Presence" (Rev. George), and "Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah" (Welsh tune Cwm Rhonda).

In the York United Church on June 24, a capacity congregation joined in a similar worship service led by the minister, Rev. John Douglas, assisted by Rev. Mr. Skinner of Winsloe. Choirs participating were those of the Brackley, North Winsloe and York United Churches.

Rev. Mr. Douglas highly commended the idea of Hymn Festivals, and praised the efforts of the organizers, choir leaders and choir members. These Hymn Festivals, originally inspired by the leadership of Rev. Lewis Murray of Kensington, are becoming widespread throughout the Maritimes. It is a wonderfully inspiring spiritual experience to hear the massed voices of these choirs and of the congregation singing together "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" or such a hymn of praise as "O For A Thousand Tongues to Sing My Dear Redeemer's Praise" to the tune of Lyngbam.

Pearson Confers With Royal Couple

LONDON, July 24—(CP)—L. B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister, called at Clarence House Monday for conversations with Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip on the Royal tour of Canada. A Canada House spokesman said no details of the talks would be made public. Tomorrow Pearson plans to see Conservative Leader Winston Churchill and Patrick Gordon-Walker, Secretary of State for Commonwealth Relations.

Hungary's Bishops Take Oath

BUDAPEST, July 24—(AP)—Hungary's Roman Catholic Bishops Sunday took an oath of allegiance to the Communist "People's Republic"—an oath they had steadfastly refused to take for two years. One archbishop, eight bishops, their assistants, and the superiors of four religious orders which remained after the others were dissolved last year, all swore to be loyal to the Hungarian People's Republic.

THE JADE GOD

Continued from page 2
than risk his making love to Pam Rodney. Girls were peculiar; the modern girl was independent; she might carry on a correspondence with an undesirable unknown to her relatives. The thought made Landon furious; he was still stinging from the tone of her refusal; she had made it a little too plain that he, Landon, was totally uninteresting. He was ripe for mischief when the taxi drew up at the house.

At the door he got his first shock; Mrs. Lynn was at home but she was not alone; they had found out who it was without difficulty, and his blood boiled. He promptly lost his head. The consequences to himself were not to be thought of. He had a weapon that would drive the intruder out of his paradise. He had intended to wait in the reception room, but as he entered it, he heard the crash of the jade god in the library and a startled cry from Pam. Landon cast prudence to the winds; he passed the servant who was going to announce him, lifted the portiere and appeared in the library. No one noticed him. Burleson had tottered as the jade god fell, his gray face was distorted with the red streak; his eyes flamed. He put out a long hand, a hand that used to be powerful, grasped the back of a chair and leaned on it. He was breathing feebly.

"You're ill!" cried Mrs. Lynn. "Pam, telephone for the doctor—your uncle's ill!" It seemed to her a relief, a valid excuse for such a scene! "I'm not ill," Burleson said thickly, but his hands went to his throat, his eyes fastened on Mark. "You—go away!" he exclaimed furiously. "Pam ran to him. 'Uncle, what is it? Tell us!' she pleaded. Mark had not moved. His eyes were fastened on the shattered green bits on the floor and there was something akin to anguish in his face. Burleson would never speak! Mrs. Lynn, still in a panic, fled to the telephone. 'We must have a doctor for you, Herbert,' she

Pearson Confers With Royal Couple

LONDON, July 24—(CP)—L. B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister, called at Clarence House Monday for conversations with Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip on the Royal tour of Canada. A Canada House spokesman said no details of the talks would be made public. Tomorrow Pearson plans to see Conservative Leader Winston Churchill and Patrick Gordon-Walker, Secretary of State for Commonwealth Relations.

Hungary's Bishops Take Oath

BUDAPEST, July 24—(AP)—Hungary's Roman Catholic Bishops Sunday took an oath of allegiance to the Communist "People's Republic"—an oath they had steadfastly refused to take for two years. One archbishop, eight bishops, their assistants, and the superiors of four religious orders which remained after the others were dissolved last year, all swore to be loyal to the Hungarian People's Republic.

THE JADE GOD

Continued from page 2
than risk his making love to Pam Rodney. Girls were peculiar; the modern girl was independent; she might carry on a correspondence with an undesirable unknown to her relatives. The thought made Landon furious; he was still stinging from the tone of her refusal; she had made it a little too plain that he, Landon, was totally uninteresting. He was ripe for mischief when the taxi drew up at the house.

THE JADE GOD

Continued from page 2
than risk his making love to Pam Rodney. Girls were peculiar; the modern girl was independent; she might carry on a correspondence with an undesirable unknown to her relatives. The thought made Landon furious; he was still stinging from the tone of her refusal; she had made it a little too plain that he, Landon, was totally uninteresting. He was ripe for mischief when the taxi drew up at the house.

THE JADE GOD

Continued from page 2
than risk his making love to Pam Rodney. Girls were peculiar; the modern girl was independent; she might carry on a correspondence with an undesirable unknown to her relatives. The thought made Landon furious; he was still stinging from the tone of her refusal; she had made it a little too plain that he, Landon, was totally uninteresting. He was ripe for mischief when the taxi drew up at the house.

THE JADE GOD

Continued from page 2
than risk his making love to Pam Rodney. Girls were peculiar; the modern girl was independent; she might carry on a correspondence with an undesirable unknown to her relatives. The thought made Landon furious; he was still stinging from the tone of her refusal; she had made it a little too plain that he, Landon, was totally uninteresting. He was ripe for mischief when the taxi drew up at the house.

THE JADE GOD

Continued from page 2
than risk his making love to Pam Rodney. Girls were peculiar; the modern girl was independent; she might carry on a correspondence with an undesirable unknown to her relatives. The thought made Landon furious; he was still stinging from the tone of her refusal; she had made it a little too plain that he, Landon, was totally uninteresting. He was ripe for mischief when the taxi drew up at the house.

Pearson Confers With Royal Couple

LONDON, July 24—(CP)—L. B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister, called at Clarence House Monday for conversations with Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip on the Royal tour of Canada. A Canada House spokesman said no details of the talks would be made public. Tomorrow Pearson plans to see Conservative Leader Winston Churchill and Patrick Gordon-Walker, Secretary of State for Commonwealth Relations.

Hungary's Bishops Take Oath

BUDAPEST, July 24—(AP)—Hungary's Roman Catholic Bishops Sunday took an oath of allegiance to the Communist "People's Republic"—an oath they had steadfastly refused to take for two years. One archbishop, eight bishops, their assistants, and the superiors of four religious orders which remained after the others were dissolved last year, all swore to be loyal to the Hungarian People's Republic.

THE JADE GOD

Continued from page 2
than risk his making love to Pam Rodney. Girls were peculiar; the modern girl was independent; she might carry on a correspondence with an undesirable unknown to her relatives. The thought made Landon furious; he was still stinging from the tone of her refusal; she had made it a little too plain that he, Landon, was totally uninteresting. He was ripe for mischief when the taxi drew up at the house.

THE JADE GOD

Continued from page 2
than risk his making love to Pam Rodney. Girls were peculiar; the modern girl was independent; she might carry on a correspondence with an undesirable unknown to her relatives. The thought made Landon furious; he was still stinging from the tone of her refusal; she had made it a little too plain that he, Landon, was totally uninteresting. He was ripe for mischief when the taxi drew up at the house.

THE JADE GOD

Continued from page 2
than risk his making love to Pam Rodney. Girls were peculiar; the modern girl was independent; she might carry on a correspondence with an undesirable unknown to her relatives. The thought made Landon furious; he was still stinging from the tone of her refusal; she had made it a little too plain that he, Landon, was totally uninteresting. He was ripe for mischief when the taxi drew up at the house.

THE JADE GOD

Continued from page 2
than risk his making love to Pam Rodney. Girls were peculiar; the modern girl was independent; she might carry on a correspondence with an undesirable unknown to her relatives. The thought made Landon furious; he was still stinging from the tone of her refusal; she had made it a little too plain that he, Landon, was totally uninteresting. He was ripe for mischief when the taxi drew up at the house.

THE JADE GOD

Continued from page 2
than risk his making love to Pam Rodney. Girls were peculiar; the modern girl was independent; she might carry on a correspondence with an undesirable unknown to her relatives. The thought made Landon furious; he was still stinging from the tone of her refusal; she had made it a little too plain that he, Landon, was totally uninteresting. He was ripe for mischief when the taxi drew up at the house.

cried, and came face to face with Landon. The young man was standing at the threshold, one hand still on the portiere, his face livid. He did not understand the scene, but he believed that Mark had come there to carry off Pam, that he was defying Burleson, and the girl loved him! It was the wilder fancy, but it kindled the spark; she stopped with her hand on the telephone receiver and gazed at the young man in open amazement. All her rules were being broken. When had he come? Why had no one announced him? Landon did not notice her expression. He had made up his mind to burn his bridges. He walked into the room and stood in front of Mark.

"You've no right to stay in this house," he said in a choked voice; "the sooner you go the better—unless you want me to tell them the truth about you." Mark looked at him and through him. "My business here isn't with you, but with Mr. Burleson," he answered crisply; "after that—perhaps!" "Your business is with me," Landon panted, "for I brought you here. I—" he swung around, facing Mrs. Lynn's frozen look, Burleson's streaked face and Pam's innocent eyes. "I owe you all an apology! I brought this fellow here by mistake; I didn't know

"You're ill!" cried Mrs. Lynn. "Pam, telephone for the doctor—your uncle's ill!" It seemed to her a relief, a valid excuse for such a scene! "I'm not ill," Burleson said thickly, but his hands went to his throat, his eyes fastened on Mark. "You—go away!" he exclaimed furiously. "Pam ran to him. 'Uncle, what is it? Tell us!' she pleaded. Mark had not moved. His eyes were fastened on the shattered green bits on the floor and there was something akin to anguish in his face. Burleson would never speak! Mrs. Lynn, still in a panic, fled to the telephone. 'We must have a doctor for you, Herbert,' she

"You're ill!" cried Mrs. Lynn. "Pam, telephone for the doctor—your uncle's ill!" It seemed to her a relief, a valid excuse for such a scene! "I'm not ill," Burleson said thickly, but his hands went to his throat, his eyes fastened on Mark. "You—go away!" he exclaimed furiously. "Pam ran to him. 'Uncle, what is it? Tell us!' she pleaded. Mark had not moved. His eyes were fastened on the shattered green bits on the floor and there was something akin to anguish in his face. Burleson would never speak! Mrs. Lynn, still in a panic, fled to the telephone. 'We must have a doctor for you, Herbert,' she

"You're ill!" cried Mrs. Lynn. "Pam, telephone for the doctor—your uncle's ill!" It seemed to her a relief, a valid excuse for such a scene! "I'm not ill," Burleson said thickly, but his hands went to his throat, his eyes fastened on Mark. "You—go away!" he exclaimed furiously. "Pam ran to him. 'Uncle, what is it? Tell us!' she pleaded. Mark had not moved. His eyes were fastened on the shattered green bits on the floor and there was something akin to anguish in his face. Burleson would never speak! Mrs. Lynn, still in a panic, fled to the telephone. 'We must have a doctor for you, Herbert,' she

"You're ill!" cried Mrs. Lynn. "Pam, telephone for the doctor—your uncle's ill!" It seemed to her a relief, a valid excuse for such a scene! "I'm not ill," Burleson said thickly, but his hands went to his throat, his eyes fastened on Mark. "You—go away!" he exclaimed furiously. "Pam ran to him. 'Uncle, what is it? Tell us!' she pleaded. Mark had not moved. His eyes were fastened on the shattered green bits on the floor and there was something akin to anguish in his face. Burleson would never speak! Mrs. Lynn, still in a panic, fled to the telephone. 'We must have a doctor for you, Herbert,' she

"You're ill!" cried Mrs. Lynn. "Pam, telephone for the doctor—your uncle's ill!" It seemed to her a relief, a valid excuse for such a scene! "I'm not ill," Burleson said thickly, but his hands went to his throat, his eyes fastened on Mark. "You—go away!" he exclaimed furiously. "Pam ran to him. 'Uncle, what is it? Tell us!' she pleaded. Mark had not moved. His eyes were fastened on the shattered green bits on the floor and there was something akin to anguish in his face. Burleson would never speak! Mrs. Lynn, still in a panic, fled to the telephone. 'We must have a doctor for you, Herbert,' she

"You're ill!" cried Mrs. Lynn. "Pam, telephone for the doctor—your uncle's ill!" It seemed to her a relief, a valid excuse for such a scene! "I'm not ill," Burleson said thickly, but his hands went to his throat, his eyes fastened on Mark. "You—go away!" he exclaimed furiously. "Pam ran to him. 'Uncle, what is it? Tell us!' she pleaded. Mark had not moved. His eyes were fastened on the shattered green bits on the floor and there was something akin to anguish in his face. Burleson would never speak! Mrs. Lynn, still in a panic, fled to the telephone. 'We must have a doctor for you, Herbert,' she

"You're ill!" cried Mrs. Lynn. "Pam, telephone for the doctor—your uncle's ill!" It seemed to her a relief, a valid excuse for such a scene! "I'm not ill," Burleson said thickly, but his hands went to his throat, his eyes fastened on Mark. "You—go away!" he exclaimed furiously. "Pam ran to him. 'Uncle, what is it? Tell us!' she pleaded. Mark had not moved. His eyes were fastened on the shattered green bits on the floor and there was something akin to anguish in his face. Burleson would never speak! Mrs. Lynn, still in a panic, fled to the telephone. 'We must have a doctor for you, Herbert,' she

"You're ill!" cried Mrs. Lynn. "Pam, telephone for the doctor—your uncle's ill!" It seemed to her a relief, a valid excuse for such a scene! "I'm not ill," Burleson said thickly, but his hands went to his throat, his eyes fastened on Mark. "You—go away!" he exclaimed furiously. "Pam ran to him. 'Uncle, what is it? Tell us!' she pleaded. Mark had not moved. His eyes were fastened on the shattered green bits on the floor and there was something akin to anguish in his face. Burleson would never speak! Mrs. Lynn, still in a panic, fled to the telephone. 'We must have a doctor for you, Herbert,' she

"You're ill!" cried Mrs. Lynn. "Pam, telephone for the doctor—your uncle's ill!" It seemed to her a relief, a valid excuse for such a scene! "I'm not ill," Burleson said thickly, but his hands went to his throat, his eyes fastened on Mark. "You—go away!" he exclaimed furiously. "Pam ran to him. 'Uncle, what is it? Tell us!' she pleaded. Mark had not moved. His eyes were fastened on the shattered green bits on the floor and there was something akin to anguish in his face. Burleson would never speak! Mrs. Lynn, still in a panic, fled to the telephone. 'We must have a doctor for you, Herbert,' she

"You're ill!" cried Mrs. Lynn. "Pam, telephone for the doctor—your uncle's ill!" It seemed to her a relief, a valid excuse for such a scene! "I'm not ill," Burleson said thickly, but his hands went to his throat, his eyes fastened on Mark. "You—go away!" he exclaimed furiously. "Pam ran to him. 'Uncle, what is it? Tell us!' she pleaded. Mark had not moved. His eyes were fastened on the shattered green bits on the floor and there was something akin to anguish in his face. Burleson would never speak! Mrs. Lynn, still in a panic, fled to the telephone. 'We must have a doctor for you, Herbert,' she

"You're ill!" cried Mrs. Lynn. "Pam, telephone for the doctor—your uncle's ill!" It seemed to her a relief, a valid excuse for such a scene! "I'm not ill," Burleson said thickly, but his hands went to his throat, his eyes fastened on Mark. "You—go away!" he exclaimed furiously. "Pam ran to him. 'Uncle, what is it? Tell us!' she pleaded. Mark had not moved. His eyes were fastened on the shattered green bits on the floor and there was something akin to anguish in his face. Burleson would never speak! Mrs. Lynn, still in a panic, fled to the telephone. 'We must have a doctor for you, Herbert,' she

"You're ill!" cried Mrs. Lynn. "Pam, telephone for the doctor—your uncle's ill!" It seemed to her a relief, a valid excuse for such a scene! "I'm not ill," Burleson said thickly, but his hands went to his throat, his eyes fastened on Mark. "You—go away!" he exclaimed furiously. "Pam ran to him. 'Uncle, what is it? Tell us!' she pleaded. Mark had not moved. His eyes were fastened on the shattered green bits on the floor and there was something akin to anguish in his face. Burleson would never speak! Mrs. Lynn, still in a panic, fled to the telephone. 'We must have a doctor for you, Herbert,' she

"You're ill!" cried Mrs. Lynn. "Pam, telephone for the doctor—your uncle's ill!" It seemed to her a relief, a valid excuse for such a scene! "I'm not ill," Burleson said thickly, but his hands went to his throat, his eyes fastened on Mark. "You—go away!" he exclaimed furiously. "Pam ran to him. 'Uncle, what is it? Tell us!' she pleaded. Mark had not moved. His eyes were fastened on the shattered green bits on the floor and there was something akin to anguish in his face. Burleson would never speak! Mrs. Lynn, still in a panic, fled to the telephone. 'We must have a doctor for you, Herbert,' she

"You're ill!" cried Mrs. Lynn. "Pam, telephone for the doctor—your uncle's ill!" It seemed to her a relief, a valid excuse for such a scene! "I'm not ill," Burleson said thickly, but his hands went to his throat, his eyes fastened on Mark. "You—go away!" he exclaimed furiously. "Pam ran to him. 'Uncle, what is it? Tell us!' she pleaded. Mark had not moved. His eyes were fastened on the shattered green bits on the floor and there was something akin to anguish in his face. Burleson would never speak! Mrs. Lynn, still in a panic, fled to the telephone. 'We must have a doctor for you, Herbert,' she

"You're ill!" cried Mrs. Lynn. "Pam, telephone for the doctor—your uncle's ill!" It seemed to her a relief, a valid excuse for such a scene! "I'm not ill," Burleson said thickly, but his hands went to his throat, his eyes fastened on Mark. "You—go away!" he exclaimed furiously. "Pam ran to him. 'Uncle, what is it? Tell us!' she pleaded. Mark had not moved. His eyes were fastened on the shattered green bits on the floor and there was something akin to anguish in his face. Burleson would never speak! Mrs. Lynn, still in a panic, fled to the telephone. 'We must have a doctor for you, Herbert,' she

the truth. He's an ex-convict," Mrs. Lynn hung up the receiver hastily and stood quite still. No one else moved; the color deepened in Pam's face but her hand still rested on Burleson's shoulder. "I've already told Miss Rodney that," said Mark, coolly; "you're a trifle late, Landon!" "No, I'm not!" Landon retorted with a sudden wicked intuition; "you didn't tell the truth. Mr. Burleson, this man murdered his uncle for his money. Ask Foedick—he knows." (To be continued)

What Tension Does to You

Know how interruptions, hurrying to keep appointments, worry for the future, affect your glands, your heart? In August Reader's Digest, Dr. Richard Hoffman tells how, besides producing its own aggravating symptoms, tension can make you a candidate for real diseases. Read how the constant demands of phone, clock and calendar affect the way our bodies function—and what you can do to lessen their tyranny, enjoy better health. Get your August Reader's Digest today; 41 articles of lasting interest, condensed from leading magazines, current books.

Napoleon and Uncle Elby

By Clifford McBride
HMM. DOES SEEM TO BE GETTING A BIT THIN BACK THERE. I'LL TRY FRED KUNYON'S SYSTEM TO RESTORE CIRCULATION.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning! Get a box of Little Liver Pills to get those 2 pints of bile flowing freely into your digestive tract every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the digestive tract. Then gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk. It takes those mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills, 35¢ at any drugstore.

Sunday School Rally At Birch Hill

The Sunday School Rally of Birch Hill Church was held on Tuesday evening, July 6th. Owing to the inclement weather the attendance was not as large as hoped for.

The minister, Rev. J. H. Bishop presided and after he had given a short talk to the children and parents, a programme demonstrating some of the work done by the school was successfully carried out, each child performing his or her part in a very creditable manner.

On completion of the programme Diplomas were awarded and prizes given as follows: Diplomas for having recited correctly the whole of the shorter catechism: Edna Robertson, Colin Myers, Leith Myers, Mae Jenkins, Alma Myers. Star Certificates were awarded to: Marie Myers, Sandra MacLean, Eleanor Ferguson, Barrie Rankin. Prizes were given for perfect attendance to: Harvey Bruce, Loyde Bruce. Good attendance to: Hazel Myers, Velma Myers. Completing the shorter catechism: Edna Robertson, Colin Myers, Leith Myers, Mae Jenkins, Alma Myers. Satisfactory Progress: George Bruce, Jennie MacDonald, Laura MacDonald, Shirley Newson, Norma Robertson, Barrie Rankin, Eleanor Ferguson, Marie Myers, Bertha Ferguson, Sandra MacLean, Evelyn Myers, Cheryl Myers, Jennie Myers, Sandra Boswell, Irene Boswell, Muriel Matthews, Geraldine Myers, Eleanor Boswell, Billie Matthews, Kathleen Matthews, Arnold Boswell, Warren Myers, Leonard Myers, Harvey Myers, Wanda Myers, Beatrice Jenkins. The minister paid compliments to the class receiving diplomas and much credit is due their teacher, Mrs. Lester Rankin for her help and encouragement.

Kingston and Vicinity

Mr. and Mrs. Whitfield Yeo and Mr. and Mrs. Heber Campbell and family were recent visitors to Kensington. Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Younker, Mrs. Edgar Newson, Misses Edna Colwill and Shirley Newson, were among the many who attended the Hymn Festival which was held in York United Church recently.

The annual school picnic was held at Stanhope Beach. A large attendance of parents and children were present. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in races and games. Congratulations are being extended to all the Grade VIII pupils of Kingston School for having successfully passed the Government examinations. They were under the capable guidance of their teacher, Mrs. Neil Campbell. The pupils were Wendell Willis, Ruth Younker and Loyde MacGregor.

Two very enjoyable evenings were spent in Kingston when friends and relatives gathered together to honor two of the season's brides, the former Misses Mildred Paul and Norma Smith. Those two young ladies have the good wishes of many friends for a long and happy married life. MISHAP RECALLED A British geologist was kicked by his horse while crossing the Rockies in 1858 and his party named the scene of the mishap Kicking Horse Pass.

WE'RE ON VACATION

In order that our Employees may have a well deserved vacation our office will be closed AUGUST 6th to 13th. Kindly call for Tires before this date, as we are not responsible for merchandise left in our possession. WHITLOCK TIRE SERVICE

The Neighbors

"Jim and I had such fun before we were engaged. Now, we just plan and save for our future."

MORE POWER TO THE

"More Power to You" explains farm mechanization in keeping with good business practice.

"Keeping the Farm in the Family" shows how a farm can be run as a profit-sharing partnership.

"Pasture on the Production Line" deals with grazing control and soil conservation necessary for better land use.

Be sure to ask for your copies of these booklets on agricultural trends. They are available at any branch of The Commerce.

Farmer

When you keep up with agricultural progress your farm operation becomes a good-paying business. That's where The Commerce can help you. Your Commerce Manager represents a Bank that has for many years taken a keen interest in promoting better farming and in looking after Canadian farmers' banking needs. Why not pay him a visit?

"Good Breeding Shows" deals with a combination of factors which help you to realize top production.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce

"The Commerce" 338-50R