Dynamited a Church

A BOMB EXPLODED IN THE CHURCH OF ST. NICHOLAS, IN VALENCIA

Great excitement was occasioned at Valencia on Friday last by a bold and partially successful attempt to wreck a place of worship with dynamite. The people residing in the vicinity of the church of St. Nicholas, one of the prominent churches of the city, were much alarmed by a terrible explosion, which caused buildings to vibrate and their windows to rattle and in some instances fall to pieces. It was found that a bomb had been exploded within the sacred edifice, and that it had wrought much destruction to the building and its valuable contents. The whole place was in general disorder. A large breach had been made in one of the walls of the church, and the beautiful altar of the Virgin had been wrecked, the costly ornaments with which it was draped lying in a heap of ruins. A valuable picture of the "Conception," painted by Fincente Juanez, was also destroyed. The explosion is attributed to the Anarchists, who have been unusually active and have been making many demonstrations of late. The damage is estimated at $5,000, not including the value of the paintings mentioned.

MOTHERS should use Philoderma on their infants, as its soothing and healing properties render it invaluable for chafing. Druggists sell it—25 cents. m1 dw 1m TONGUE CUT OFF.—The Halifax Chronicle says: While a horse was being shod at Fullerton's Mills, it became fractious, and a rope was placed round its lower jaw to keep it quiet. Instead of putting the rope under its tongue, it was put over it, with the result that about three inches of its tongue was cut off. The horse, which was a valuable one, is not expected to live.
