Maple Leafs Oust Habs; Davey Keon Again Stars

By RON ANDREWS

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs, let by little Davey Keon and "old man" Johnny Bower, advanced to the Stanley Cup final series by whipping Montreal Canadiens 5-0 Thursday night.

The victory gave Leafs the best-of-seven semi-final 4-1 in games. They now await the winner of the other semi-final between Chicago Black Hawks an' Detroit Red Wings.

The Leafs administered the coup-de-grace to Montreal in convincing fashion. They surged into a 3-0 lead in the first 11 minutes of the game and from then on set out to methodically protect a shutout for Bower, his second in this series and second in 40 Stanley Cup contests.

Keon spearheaded the offence with a pair of goals and an assist. Dick Duff, Ron Stewart and defenceman Kent Douglas scored the other goals.

The series win was the first for Leafs over Canadiens in three tries. Montreal having defeated Toronto in the 1959 and 1960 final series.

LOST OPENER 5-0

For Montreal, it meant finishing the season in exactly the same way they started. In their first game of the regular schedule they were whipped 5-0 by Bruins at Boston.

From the start of the game it appeared that Leafs were out for the kill. They put the pressure on from the opening seconds and, until they had the first three goals, they never let up.

Bower, who admits to 39 but is believed to be three or four years older, was at his best in the second period when the game Montrealers refused to sit back. Bower's best saves were against Claude Provost, Jean Beliveau, Bill Hicke and Don Marshall.

Bower made a total of 33 saves in the game against the 27 stops recorded by Montreal's masked veteran, Jacques Plante.

A holding penalty against Montreal rookie defenceman Terry Harper started the Leafs on their way. Harper was penalized at 6:39 and 17 seconds later Keon rifled a low shot at Plante. The puck skidded past Plante as the goaltender made a desperate lunge to hold it out of the net.

Then at 9:43 Duff beat Plante with a 30-foot shot from the left side after Keon dug the puck out from behind the Montreal net. It was only 28 seconds later when Stewart was put in the clear by Red Kelly and, going in unmolested from centre ice, faked Plante out of position before dumping the puck into an open net.

MAKES IT 4-0

Keon ran the count to 4-0 late in the second period by deflecting a booming drive by Leafs in the second period by deflecting a booming drive by Leafs defenceman Bob Baun past a surprised Plante.

Douglas, with his first Stanley Cup goal, closed the scoring on a 30-foot blast at 11:27 of the final period on one of Leafs' few scoring efforts of the stanza.

The Leafs dressing-room was noisy as one would expect when a team picks up $1,500 per man for a win. That's what the series meant to the Leafs. The Canadiens room was closed to the press after the game but coach Toe Blake told waiting reporters: "I thought we were ready for them after that last game, but it doesn't look as though we were."

DAVE KEON

Toronto's 'Old Man' Played Great Game

By DAVE BETTS

TORONTO (CP) — "Nice stuff dad."

With these words, John Bower Jr., 9, Thursday night summed up the feelings of Toronto Maple Leafs fans everywhere.

The "old man" of the Leafs had just turned aside 35 shots from the desperate Montreal Canadiens to lead Leafs to a 5-0 win and into their fourth Stanley Cup final in five years.

In the Leafs dressing room, John Jr. sat with an arm around the shoulders of his happpy father as an army of photographers jostled for position.

Bower's shutout took some of the attention away from the stellar performance of Dave Keon who potted two goals and assisted on another. But the 23-year-old centre was not neglected.

"We just did our best," said Keon. "No, I have no preference between Detroit and Chicago. We'll just do our best against either. Yes, thanks, I thought we played very well."

Keon thought Montreal goalie Jacques Plante misjudged the first period goal that startled it all off.

"I don't think he laid a glove on it," said Keon. "He just plain misjudged it."

Captain George Armstrong, who slapped a long pass to Keon in front of the net, said, "I saw Davey floating in. I just waited and flipped it toward him. He got away a sort of crazy backhand and that was it."

Although it didn't really matter, rookie defenceman Kent Douglas scored his first playoff goal — Leafs' fifth — halfway through the third period after a well-executed solo rush from his own end.

FEELS GOOD

"It feels pretty good," said Douglas. "Now I know I can do it and maybe the next one will be one we really need."

Because they play a "rougher game — our kind of hockey," coach Punch Imlach admitted he would prefer meeting Black Hawks in the final.

As for Thursday night's game, Imlach had a modest appraisal:

"We're just a better hockey club," he said.

"We started hustling again. We did all the things we didn't do in Montreal.

"Tonight I played Pulford against (Jean) Beliveau and the Keon line against Henri Richard. That left my so-called big line of Kelly - Mahovlich-Stewart against their so-called third line.

"The only trouble was my 'big' line didn't do much."

will you have to do to get back in there?"

He looked up slowly.

"What these guys need is a lot of prayers and a change in attitude," he scowled.

Did he mean the Canadiens had a defeatist attitude in the series?

Humph," answered Blake. "That's not all."

Goaltender Jacques Plante, who wasn't always a shining for Canadiens, has said earlier in the series that Montreal's trouble was lack of a leader.

Did Blake agree?

"He'd better look after his own job," he grunted. "and never mind worrying about a leader."

Plante, just back from the showers, sat quietly, dressing very slowly and deliberately. Nothing was said between coach and goaltender although they were standing in the same corner of the room.

"What about next year?" Plante was asked. "Will you be back in there?"

Plante too was sitting with head lowered.

"I don't know," he said quietly. "I don't think I want to talk about hockey again this year. I'd better wait."

The room was in absolute silence, while the players were in the showers, while they dressed and when they left.

Frank Selke, managing director of the club, didn't go into the dressingroom. He held court with reporters outside in the lobby.

Does Selke have specific plans for next year?

"I sure have," he smiled as he walked away.

SAYS SCOWLING BLAKE

Guys Need Prayers, Change Of Attitude

By PAUL RIMSTEAD

TORONTO (CP)—The feeling in Montreal Canadiens dressing room Thursday night was such that if anyone had ventured a smile it likely would have cost him his job.

Coach Toe Blake, who can scowl with the best of them, was wearing his darkest look and was in no mood for horseplay, jokes or excuses. Losing to Toronto Maple Leafs in five games was bad enough—but Thursday night's 5-0 loss was humiliating.

Blake gave orders to keep everyone out of the dressing room—even club officials—but later allowed a reporter to enter.

"Well Toe," Blake was asked, "what about next year? What

Ullman Paces Red Wings To 4-2 Win Over Hawks

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

CHICAGO (CP) — Centre Norm Ullman scored two goals and assisted on another pair Thursday night as Detroit Red Wings defeated Chicago Black Hawks 4-2 to take a 3-2 lead in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-finals.

MORE

The 27-year-old playmaker, a star throughout the series, although held off the scoreboard until Thursday night, put the game out of reach for the Hawks with his second goal at 17:25 of the third period. He got his first early in the middle session.

The victory followed 4-2 and 4-1 triumphs at Detroit Olympia for the Red Wings after they lost the opening pair 5-4 and 5-2 at Chicago Stadium. Sixth game of the series will be played in Detroit Sunday night.

Parker MacDonald and Floyd Smith were the other Detroit marksmen. Ken Wharram and Bobby Hull scored for Chicago in the second period that tied the score at 2-2.

GOLFS IN WINNER

MacDonald a native of Sydney, N.S., notched the winner at 15:17 of the second period when he took a mighty golf swing at the bouncing puck from about five feet out. The Hawks' Ab McDonald was watching the proceedings from the penalty box where he had been chased for a five-minute major for cross-checking Detroit defenceman Doug Barkley.

The Hawks, who had been chastised severely by coach Rudy Pilous for failure to shoot and skate in the preceding two games at Detroit, were outshot again for the third straight time.

Hawk goalkeeper Glenn Hall made 43 saves against 30 for Terry Sawchuk in the Detroit nets.

The Hawks, outplayed and outskated in the final two periods, missed a glorious chance to tie it up with about five minutes to go in the game. Hull set Kenny Wharram up with a pass directly in front of the Red Wing goal but the right winger's drive was a couple of feet wide with Sawchuk out of position.

Camp Injuries Cripple Teams

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

An alarming wave of sore arms and training camp injuries have crippled major league teams as they head into the final weekend of exhibition games prior to the opening of the season Monday and Tuesday.

New York Yankees, odds-on favorites to repeat in the American League, have been playing without Roger Maris, Whitey Ford, Tony Kube, Tom Tresh and Clete Boyer. Some of them are due to be back before Tuesday.

Cincinnati broke camp in Tampa, Fla., leaving behind Bob Purkey, the Reds' 23-game winner. Manager Fred Hutchinson wants to give Purkey a chance to soak up some extra sunshine in hopes of shaking off soreness in his right shoulder.

Cincinnati's Frank Robinson also has been out of action lately due to a sore arm. Vada Pinson, starting slowly after an appendectomy, lost more time due to a wrenched right knee. On his return, Pinson was shifted to left field, giving up centre field to rookie Tommy Harper.

Vern Law, ace of Pittsburgh's 1960 pennant winners and a 10-game winner last year despite constant arm trouble, hopes an extended stay in Florida will revive his arm.

LARY STILL AILING

Detroit also has a major problem in Frank Lary, the Yankee killer of old. Larry was lost most of last season due to arm trouble. It still bothers him.

Frank Thomas of New York Mets has a sore right elbow, a souvenir from a collision with fence, and teammate Jim Hickman has a damaged right thumb.

Houston got a tough break when John Bateman, a rookie catcher who figured to crack the opening-day lineup, suffered a hairline fracture on a finger of his throwing hand.

San Francisco has not been able to get any help from Billy Hoeft whose shoulder was injured in a fall and Philadelphia's plans have been jumbled by a rib injury to Roy Sievers and Tony Gonzalez' leg injury. The status of Art Mahaffey, slated to pitch the opener Tuesday, remains doubtful. Mahaffey came up with a sore arm after his last outing.

Baltimore does not know how much help it can expect from Mike McCormick, the ex-Giant. Harmon Killebrew's right knee has been bothering him but he expects to be swinging when Minnesota Twins open. Washington also has been having problems with an injury to Jimmy Piersall. Kansas City's Dan Pfister has been having trouble with a sore elbow.

A Night Of Tension

A night of tension ended on a delightful note Wednesday for Old Spain Penguins and their supporters when the 'Bucko' Trainor coached lads from Prince Edward Island finished their 1962-63 Maritime hockey season by winning the Maritime junior crown.

The Baby Birds and their supporters thought things would have ended Tuesday night with a win over Hoyt's Movers from Dartmouth but an edict from CAHA president Art Potter of Edmonton delayed the victory celebration. He upheld Glace Bay Miners' protest, ordered them back into the junior playdowns (Hoyt's had previously ousted them) and asked the Maritime Amateur Hockey Association to arrange a playoff for the Cape Bretoners. This was done as ordered and Glace Bay was told to be in Charlottetown Wednesday night for a sudden-death fixture with Penguins for the Maritime championship.

A Hectic Week

ON the basis of past performances Penguins were heavy favorites to beat the Invaders from the other Island But folks were forgetting the gruelling grind the local youngsters had undergone this past week. They played Fredericton here on March 26, travelled to Fredericton for a game on March 29, left Fredericton for Dartmouth on Friday March 29, played Dartmouth March 30, crossed the Angus L. MacDonald bridge for another game Sunday March 31, returned home Monday April 1, played Hoyt's Movers here April 2 and then waited for Glace Bay Miners on April 3.

This was indeed a week of hectic hockey but the new Maritime champions showed their great fighting spirit by winning every one of the six games played. That's quite a record and it proves that these youngsters are made of championship material.

So it was indeed no wonder that they went wild with joy as the final siren screamed Wednesday night. The tension was over. That one 'bad' game, that might have ousted them and made them feel that justice just didn't exist, didn't materialize. They were 'in' and ready for the jaunt to the Ottawa Valley,.

Great Third Period

BUT for two periods Wednesday night, things looked anything but pleasant for the Old Spainers. Four times Glace Bay had taken the lead and four times the locals fought back to get the equalizer. It was beginning to look as though it just wasn't in the books for the Baby Birds.

However, a Montague lad by the name of Stan Peardon, finally got the Birds rolling in the third. He fired the goal that sent Penguins in front 5-4 and after third-ed Summerside's Dave Martin made it 6-4 less than a minute later.

The victory march was on and, although the Miners managed to sink another tally at 7.02 to make it 6-5, the Old Spainers were not to be denied. Superb checking and tripping holes in the Bay defence and before hostilities had ceased they potted three more markers.

Instead of cracking under pressure, the Penguins showed they knew how to handle themselves when the going was toughest. They refused to panic when the Miners threatened to spoil their Ottawa plans. They decided to show these Cape Bretoners that this Maritime junior crown was rightfully theirs and they left little doubt about that in that final 20 minutes.

A Top Promoter

TO president Myron Bell, we offer sincere congratulations on a great season.

Myron was the happiest man on the Island after that 9-5 victory and you would think he had made a financial killing for the 1962-63 campaign. However, it's surely no secret that Myron has taken a trimming from the financial side because folks failed to show on this season in the numbers that you would expect.

Myron left no stone unturned to get a band of Maritime champions together. It cost a lot of money but the genial Mr. Bell never hesitated. He decided to see that Maritime crown come to Prince Edward Island and he got what he wanted.

We sincerely hope that the hockey public appreciates the generous actions of these hockey promoters. Without these kind of fellows, hockey would be a minus quantity around these parts.

We appreciate your interest and generosity Myron. This winning of a Maritime crown couldn't have happened to a nicer guy.

Minor Hockey Night Is Saturday At Arena
