Eternal Vigilance.
"There's no need of my consulting a physician," said the irritable man. "I know what's the matter with me—it's insomnia."
"Maybe he could give you medicine to help you."
"No. Giving me medicine won't do any good. There isn't any medicine that'll keep a man from being kept busy from 2 till 5 o'clock in the morning making tours to every part of the house where a door or window might have been left unbolting. There's only one thing for me to do, and that is to give up my present occupation and be a milk-man."—Washington Star.

Vassar "Female" College.
The Vassar girls will take exception to Dr. Parkhurst's expression, "female college." One of their glee treats of that subject. They had a "female" college once, but if there is a female college still it goes by another name. The change is celebrated in verse:

An institution once there was
Of learning and of knowledge
Which had upon its high brick front
A "Vassar Female College."
The maidens fair could not enjoy
Their bread and milk and porridge,
For graven on the forks and spoons
Was "Vassar Female College."
Tra la, la, la! Tra la, la, la!
'Twas "Vassar Female College."

A strong east wind at last came by,
A wind that blew from Norwich.
It tore the "Female" from the sign
That was upon the college.
And as the faculty progressed
In wisdom and in knowledge
They took the "Female" off the spoons
As well as off the college.
Tra la, la, la! Tra la, la, la!
It now is "Vassar College."

The Sacredness of Prayer Rugs.
Verses from the Koran and other passages considered sacred are generally stamped on the fabrics used as prayer rugs by the Mohammedans, and it is criminal in oriental law to export such pieces. This is doubtless because use by the occidentals means the treading of the sacred words under infidel feet, and when you think it over it is not to be wondered at. A few years ago an American succeeded in getting two such pieces as near home as Paris, but the inducements offered to him to return them to the oriental dealer were potent enough to effect their purpose.

Lismore castle, the Irish seat of the Duke of Devonshire, is beautifully situated on the Blackwater. The town is of great antiquity and was once famous for its university and its monasteries.

India's pearl fisheries have been famous from the remotest time. In the Persian gulf the industry has existed from the days of the Macedonians.

TREES AND LUMBER.

The tensile strength per square inch of locust is 20,500 pounds. The best lumber in a tree is said to be that nearest the ground. A cubic foot of beech weighs 60 pounds green and 53 pounds when seasoned. The kiln drying process is said to be successful only when small pieces are treated. Teak, the famous English-shipbuilding wood, weighs 41.06 pounds to the cubic foot. "Heart shakes" are splits which radiate from the center to the circumference of a tree. "Belting" a tree—that is, killing it by destroying the bark in a circle around the trunk—injures it for lumber.

Mahogany, one of the hardest of woods, is also one of the slowest to season. Pine, one of the softest, is among the quirkkest. American pine when green weighs 44 pounds 12 ounces to the cubic foot. When seasoned, its weight is reduced to 30 pounds 11 ounces.

Wood is not generally well seasoned by a very high temperature. If the heat is too great, the moisture escapes very rapidly and the wood is liable to crack or split.

Many woods have sugar and gum in their composition, and the presence of these elements is generally shown by the attraction the wood seems to have for many kinds of insects.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

NOVELTIES.

Three handed cus glass loving cups have silver rims.

Jugs of Coalport china in delicate apple green shade are finished with silver lids.

Silver gilt spoons with flower handles enamelled in natural colors make a pretty show.

Carving sets of American steel are now finished with ivory or sterling silver handles.

There are leather bags for shopping, fitted with silver trimmed purse, card-case and scot bottle.

Vases, baskets and rose bowls in shapes novel and artistic are out in the new nacreous glass, an American production.—Jewelers' Circular.

HOMELY HINTS.

Pride leads where courage falters. The snake's track is the crooked man's road.

It takes the hardest kind of writing to perfect an easy style.

A man may be truthful with others and yet try to lie to himself.

A coarse woman in fine clothes makes even common vulgarity blush.

It is only in life's journey that the last miles grow shortest.—New York Telegram.
