'Tis not all Gold THAT GLITTERS

Many are taken in now-a-days, and are paying from ten to twenty dollars for a watch not worth five, by buying from peddlers and others who are not watch-makers.

Do not be Deceived.

But when you want a reliable watch buy only of one who understands the trade and asks only a fair price for a good article.

Baseball Batting.
The ideal batter puts into his stroke, first, body motion; second, upper arm motion; third, forearm motion, and fourth, wrist motion. The stroke begins with a strong body swing, which is followed by the motions of the upper and fore arm respectively, and ends with a short, quick snap of the wrists. Although this is the analysis of the ideal stroke, it is not precisely the one that I would recommend for the majority of amateurs. To get all the motions to their full extent against good pitchers requires an ability to judge the ball more quickly and accurately than amateurs, with few exceptions, can do. The wrist and arm motions can be controlled more easily and quickly than the body swing, so that if most of the latter is left off the batter has a greater chance of judging the ball accurately. I therefore think, as accuracy is absolutely essential, that batters should be coached to use but little body swing. In other words, they should be coached not to "slug" and try for home runs, but to meet the ball squarely for line singles. When you see a batter, as I often have, strike at a ball, and from the force of the stroke be turned completely around, you have seen one who is guilty of two breaches of correct batting principles. First, having entirely sacrificed the important arm and wrist motions, he has, with stiff arms and wrists, depended entirely upon a powerful body swing. And, second, he has lost his balance and therefore all batting form. It will be well to bear in mind that against any pitcher a good, clean hit can be made, even without any body motion, if the ball be hit squarely and with a quick arm motion and snap of the wrists.—Harper's Round Table.

His View of Our Women.
According to the Rev. Dr. F. E. Clark, American women are thus referred to by the Swami Vivekananda, the Hindoo who was so popular with women while he was in this country: "When a woman tries her best to find a husband, she goes to all the bathing places imaginable and tries all sorts of tricks to catch a man. When she fails in her attempts, she becomes what they call in America an 'old maid' and joins the church. Some of them become very 'churchy.' These churchwomen are awful fanatics. They are under the thumb of the priests there. Between them and the priests they make a hell on earth. They make a mess of religion. With the exception of these the Americans are a very good people. They loved me so much. I loved them. I felt as though I was one of them."—New York Tribune.

The Occult.
The Orient—But you will not deny that our attainments in occult science at least far surpass yours.

The Occident—Occult? Say, right in my own town there's a fortune teller that I'll back against anything that ever came down the pike. Why, she's the seventh daughter of the seventh daughter of the seventh wife of a seventh husband.—Detroit Journal.

A Misleading "Ad."
A good many years ago, when orange marmalade was first introduced into England, some of the dealers advertised it as "an excellent substitute for butter." A Lancashire workingman's wife, seeing such an advertisement in a shop window, concluded to give the novelty a trial. She bought a two pound jar. The next morning she entered the shop in a state of high indignation. "You old villain!" she exclaimed to the grocer. "What did you mean by selling me that stuff? I pretty nearly poisoned my old man with it." "How were that?" asked the innocent shopkeeper. "How were that! Didn't you say it were a substitute for butter?" "Yes, I did." "Well, it is a grand substitute. I used some of it to fry a bit of fish with, and it made us all sick as we could be."

DOES IT PAY TO TIPPLE.
You know it don't. Then why do you do it? I know why. It requires too much self-denial to quit. The Dixon Cure, which is taken privately, is purely vegetable, is pleasant to the taste, and will cure you of all desire for liquor in two or three days, so that you would pay five cents for a barrel of beer or whiskey. You will eat heartily and sleep soundly from the start, and be better in every way, in both health and pocket, and without interfering with business duties. Write in confidence to particular. The Dixon Cure Co., No. 40 Park Avenue, (near Milton St.), Montreal.
