"Means of Culture"
Mr. Leigh R. Gregor's lecture on this subject was well attended. Judge Hensley occupied the chair. The means of culture to which Mr. Gregor called particular attention were music, poetry and philosophy. These were examined in detail and illustrated by the extracts from the writings of some of the best of modern poets and philosophers. The lecture was very well written and very well read. Mr. Gregor is to be congratulated on his ability and good taste. Would that there were among us a greater number of young men who cultivate their minds by the study of Goethe, Schiller, Shakespeare and Carlyle.
A Lively Scene.
A runaway horse came dashing off the ice at Great George street to day, turned into Water street and took charge of the sidewalk. Several sleighs with pork were delivering their loads at Councilor Hazard's warehouse—one with a pair of horses attached, stood across the track. The runaway sprang over it, leaving the sleigh to which he was harnessed a wreck behind him. The racket he made started the pair of horses with the pork and they set off helter skelter, causing two other horses to runaway. So that there were five runaway horses on the street at the same time. Fortunately no one was hurt.
A MEETING of all persons who have signified their willingness to become stockholders in the first-class hotel scheme will be held in the Cameron Block on Tuesday evening next at half-past seven o'clock.
We are indebted to Mr. Theo. L. Chappelle for a copy of "The Elector's Catechism," compiled and adapted by John Wicksteed. It is a capital thing—should be owned by every voter.
