Guernsey Ass'n Told Of Trends In Breeding

By NEIL MATHESON
Charlottetown in Canada have a better chance to improve their cattle genetically than ever before, because under the artificial breeding program recently introduced in Charlottetown next year, as a part of the widespread Confederation Centennial program.

S. C. Wright, deputy minister of agriculture, told the cattle men that the results they get from their association will depend on the effort they put into it.

He said that he inspected the building following a call from the RCMP, and found the lock on the front door open and vehicle tracks leading away from the building.

By checking the registration and serial numbers of the missing car, it was discovered that it was the same one the RCMP had picked up at approximately 1.45 Sunday morning.

Berry Gass declined the right to consult a lawyer and testified on his own behalf. He said on the night of June 15 he had been walking in Charlottetown and James Gallant had driven up in a car and asked him if he wanted to go to Summerside for a drive.

He said Gallant told him the car belonged to a friend in Summerside, and admitted that he had been driving the car when picked up by the RCMP later in the evening.

It was pointed out in George McMahon's Crown cross examination that the two men had first met three weeks ago when in jail. Gass admitted that he had not known the vehicle was stolen until they had been stopped by the RCMP. He said, however, he had overheard Gallant tell Miss Yoo that the car was stolen but thought at the time that he was joking.

S'ide Awards Fuel Contract

SUMMERSIDE—A contract for supplying fuel oil to town-owned buildings at a cost of $150,000 per 100 gallons has been awarded to Johnston's fuels Ltd. MacEwen Road. This was the lowest tender submitted.

At a recent meeting of council it was decided to purchase fuel oil by tender as it was felt this would result in a considerable saving in the cost of this item, which is used to heat the civic building, fire station, civic stadium and town garage.

In the past the cost to the town has been $180 per 100 gallons of fuel oil so the new method of purchasing is expected to result in a large saving each year.
