No End To Demands That Confronts Mother

"It's a responsibility that I confess, sometimes confounds me" is the motto of several youngsters declared with a playful chuckle, not long ago. "We parents must be nothing less than Socrates. We settle issues, encourage, counsel, direct—there is no end to the demands, we must face. Sometimes the right and the wrong of the matter at hand, is clearly indicated. But there are those occasions when we move more or less blindly, trusting that we make the right decision, say the right words to them... What did you and James do with yours?"

"Not too much" we grinned. "Reasoned with them odd times, explained, advised, grew up with them, set this and that example, loved them... but altogether like Topsy, ours 'Jes' grown!"

We recalled this conversation, when, this very morning we were in receipt of a much appreciated letter, containing the following: "The Parents' Prayer."

"The author of this is unknown," the sender wrote. "I have enjoyed it so much. Indeed, I find it is actually a help to me

PANELLED walls of polished walnut. An enormous girl decorated with an Iranian ribbon-and-star motif: the color tones of the hammered copper of which it is fashioned over-washed with silver reflected in the carpets, hangings, the burnished copper-colored table cloths. Glowing warmth to spark the heart of any visitor to the Shaer (Poet's) Grill of the Royal Trehan Hilton Hotel.

American coffee and tea from the Persian sampler are both prepared, for Persians drink tea almost around the clock. As an evening refreshment, Baklava is often passed with tea from the sampler.

Pastries are rarely served by dessert; if fruit is preferred by the Persians after a substantial meal.

Measurements are level (Takes time), but a delicious treat!

Allow me not to rob them of their childhood, but to give them the little errors of my children, and help me to see the good things that they do. Give me a ready word for honest praise."

MARY HAWORTH
J.S.A. Air Force Band Offers To Aid Mission

Dear Mary Haworth: The men of the USAF Headquarters Command Band, based at Bolling AFB, noticed the missionary appeal, asking for used Christmas cards and cancelled postage stamps, to help the Christian Deaf Fellowship in Kingston, Jamaica.

Our band visited Jamaica for its independence celebration last August and played concerts in Kingston and all over the northern part of the island.

The band would like, therefore, to take on this project and serve as a collection center for any used Christmas cards, cancelled stamps or other additional material that your readers may wish to send.

Just address all contributions to: The Headquarters Command Band, USAF, Bolling Air Force Base 25, D.C. and we will see that they reach Jamaica. Thank you.

Dear H. Q.: This is really tremendously kind of you and I hope our readers rise to the opportunity and overwhelm you with contributions.

For the benefit of those who may have missed the first appeal, it is, in part, that the Christian Deaf Fellowship Center in Kingston is an inter-denominational organization, serving the spiritual needs of the deaf in America and Jamaica, and is connected with similar organizations in Ireland, England and Sweden.

The fellowship announced that "it would be developed to receive used Christmas cards and cancelled postage stamps" and that it feeds, clothes and cares for 27 children at present and is financed solely by contributions.

The above response of the men of the USAF headquarters command band certainly carries out the image of the noble American that has been projected by some social critics. M. H.

Dear Mary Haworth: In some states divorced persons can only be remarried in a civil ceremony. My fiancé and I would like to know if a minister would marry us in my home. I am a resident of Virginia and it is the second time around for both of us.

Dear J. L.: The only possible way to discover if a clergyman would marry you at home is to ask. Some religious denominations are more prohibitive than others, as regards marriage of divorced persons under sacramental auspices.

I suggest that you make discreet, polite, personal inquiry of representative clergy in your community, to learn if you can persuade a minister of the gospel to do the honors.

I heard, not long ago, of a certain well known bachelor who

Dear Mary Haworth: At our house, your column is a must and your advice highly regarded. Now, may I please add a word to your counsel concerning the housewife's emotional interest in helping a psychologically sick priest.

If she truly wants to help him, she should acquaint his superior with his hidden need of help. Assuming he is a diocesan priest, his bishop should be alerted. If he is an order priest, the superior of his house-

Ever Hear of a "DIURETIC"?

Maybe not. But you should know what a "diuretic" does. There may be times when you should use one. You likely understand how important the kidneys are in maintaining good health. Also that if the kidneys fail to function properly excess acids and waste material remain in the system. This may result in subsequent urinary irritation and bladder discomfort, often followed by backache, tired feeling and disturbed rest.

This is when the diuretic service of Dodd's Kidney Pills may be helpful. Dodd's acts as a diuretic stimulant to help restore normal kidney action, and so relieve the systemic condition causing backache and tired feeling. When you are bothered by backache and tired feeling due to lazy kidneys, you can depend on Dodd's Kidney Pills as many thousands have done during the past 70 years. Look for Dodd's at any drug during.
